Johnston Workers to Resist 'Back-to-Work' Moves

BOARD WILL MEET

No Indication From Either Side of Arbitration

Canton, Ohio — (AP) — Two hundred members of the "Law and Order" league started a march on the Republic Steel Corp. picket lines this afternoon.

After gathering at the league's downtown headquarters they left in a body with the announced intention of breaking the picket line at Eleventh street and Carnahan avenue, the main entrance to the Republic plant.

"We are going back to work," they shouted.

Cleveland — (AP) — C. I. O. shouted a spirited "carry on!" to its striking steel workers today to counteract a swelling "let's-call-the-whole-thing-off" chorus from non-striking workers who want to go back to work.

Hundreds of grim, brawny men gathered at Johnston, Pa., last night and raised cauldroned hands in a united pledge to continue the strike against the Bethlehem plant there "for weeks and weeks," if necessary, to win a signed contract.

But the Johnston picket lines were thinner, and plant officials reported, work was going on "much better."

A Chicago mass meeting heard speakers lambast the four strike-affected steel corporations, and then sang the strike theme song, "Sign on the Dotted Line."

Board Meets Saturday

Cleveland, however, became the focal point of interest as the federal government's mediation board, which Secretary of Labor Perkins named yesterday, was called for tomorrow by its chairman, Charles P. Taft II, the other mediators are Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin and the veteran trouble-shooter, Edward F. McGrady of the labor department.

Whether the board would have anything to mediate was a big question mark. It has no power of compulsion; and there was no indication today that the steel companies or the C. I. O. were ready to rest the fate of the strike in the hands of such a board.

"We will cooperate," was far as either side was willing to go.

Taft, a Republican who drafted that party's planks on relief and social security in the Landon platform, hoped to get the decks cleared for action today. Garrison is expected in time for tomorrow's meeting, but McGrady, now aboard the Berengaria enroute home from Europe, may not arrive until late tomorrow night.

Mediated Toledo Strike

Taft, not yet 40, is author of "You and I and Roosevelt," a book in which he takes issue with many New Deal policies. Three years ago he successfully mediated the Electric Auto-Lite strike at Toledo, an accomplishment that won the approbation of both President Roosevelt and Secretary Perkins.

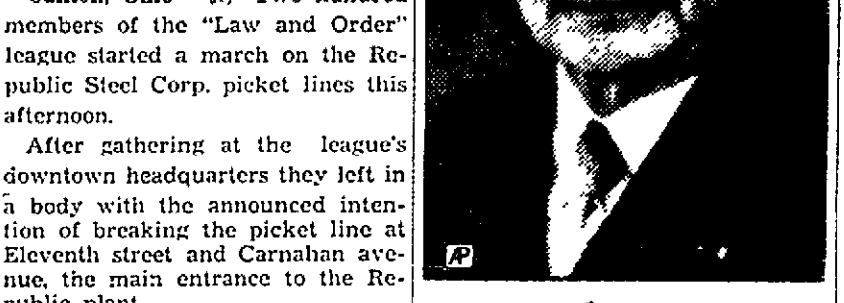

The possibility that the steel strike, which is costing about $750,000 a day, might spread to the railroads was suggested today in a statement by Alexander F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Asked concerning reports that the trainmen would refuse to handle shipments to or from strike-affected plants, he said:

"I told our fellows at Youngstown, Warren, and Canton, Ohio, and in one or two places in Pennsylvania, that they were not required to subject themselves to danger. Under unusual circumstances it is up to the men to decide whether movement of cars is dangerous."

Assures Protection

"I told our men that if the railroads undertook to discipline them or ordered them to work under dangerous conditions we will protect them."

The back-to-work chorus was heard on several sectors. At Johnston a citizens committee, organized

DIES IN FRANCE
Gaston Doumergue, 73, who had been in retirement since the end of his second term as prime minister of France, died today at his native village of Aignes-Vives. He was a former president of France.

Elderly Statesman Also Served Nation Twice As Premier

Aignes-Vives, France. — (AP) — Gaston Doumergue, 73, former president and twice premier of France, died today in his native village.

The elderly statesman had lived in retirement among the vineyards of his countryside since he slipped quietly out of Paris Nov. 15, 1934, at the end of his second term as prime minister.

"Papa" Doumergue, as he was known throughout France, was elected to the presidency in 1924, the first Protestant to hold that office under the third republic.

Despite his nickname, Doumergue was a bachelor until he was 67. He married Madame Jeanne Grave, a widow, just 12 days before he left the Elysee palace at the end of his presidential term in 1931.

In February, 1934, after the bloody "Stavisky" riots, the aging statesman was called to the service of his country once again to weld all parties except socialists and communists into a national government.

In November of the same year, however, he resigned the premiership when the cabinet split over his demands for more power.

Name Acting Head of Polish Department

Madison — (AP) — The University of Wisconsin board of regents today appointed Prof. Jozef Birkenmajer, Warsaw, Poland, as acting head of the department of Polish during the 1937-38 academic year.

Prof. Birkenmajer will replace Prof. Witold Doroszewski, who has been granted a year's leave of absence to return to the University of Warsaw. Prof. Birkenmajer's salary will be $5,000.

The regents approved appointment of Miss Livia Appel of the University of Minnesota as managing editor of the new University of Wisconsin Press at a salary of $3,250 a year.

Film Extra Is Seeking Reopening of Inquiry

Los Angeles — (AP) — An attorney for pretty Patricia Douglas, 20, film extra, declared today he would seek reopening of a grand jury investigation into his client's charges that David Ross attacked her.

The jury refused to indict Ross, Chicago film salesman, who Miss Douglas said assaulted her during a party given at a ranch near here for visiting film sales representatives.

The attorney for Miss Douglas, William F. Brown, said he would file a damage suit against Ross and both civil and criminal charges against officials of the studio which staged the party.

"Not only will I seek to have Ross brought before the grand jury, but every official who had a hand in sponsoring the party," Brown declared.

'Personal Receivership' Bill Has Senate O. K.

Madison — (AP) — The senate passed and sent to the assembly today the "personal receivership" bill drafted by Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school.

The measure provides relief of garnishment actions for persons whose income is less than $2,400 a year on condition they present in court a petition for amortization of their debts.

Under this plan a portion of the individual's income would be set aside for payment of the debt, creditors sharing equally. The bill would require completion of such payments in two years.

Rebel Forces Preparing to Enter Bilbao

Basque Capital Now Within Sight of Advancing Insurgents

AWAIT FINAL ORDER

Franco's Troops May Enter Doomed City in Matter of Hours

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

With the Spanish Insurgents on Mount Archanda, in the Suburbs of Bilbao — (AP) — Bilbao, dotted with fires and scurrying government snipers, came under the very eyes today of thousands of leg-wearer insurgent troops. They may enter the never-conquered citadel of the Basques in a matter of hours.

The troops cast of Bilbao have conquered some of the most fertile mountain farmlands and picture cities in all Spain. Now they are waiting only for the completion of an encircling movement by their comrades west of the city.

Those troops are toiling up the tortuous hills to the west, toward Santesteban. When they dominate Bilbao from the western hills, they expect the occupation order from "El Caudillo"—Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Today we can see into the Bilbao streets, where squads of Basque government troops are roaming about and sniping now and then across the Nervion river. There are occasional fires, one in particular, seemingly a chemical factory, belching out great clouds of pure white smoke. But there is no sign of any systematic destruction from within the city.

Use Tanks in Attack

Some of the Basques in the Archanda sector were reported to be fiercely defending their positions on Mount Can Burnabe. Insurgents sent a fleet of tanks to attack Mount Chacoli, between Archanda and San Burnabe, to lure the defenders from their posts.

Refugees are streaming back to the city. They have been taken by the Insurgents. The possessions are loaded into creaking ex-carts that have wheels of solid wood. Usually the piles of household goods are surmounted by the family mattresses, striped like bright awnings. On them a few chickens, their legs tied together, nestle in perfect content.

Every type of conveyance from bicycles to rattling, fall-apart autos, are rambling along the dusty roads in the bright sunshine through the streams of plodding walkers and bundle carriers.

In the fields the stoical Basques are carrying bomb and shell boxes out of the cabbage and strawberry

Holding Concerns Abroad Helped Cut U. S. Taxes, Report

Treasury Investigator Testifies at Congressional Inquiry

Washington — (AP) — Elmer L. Irey, treasury tax investigator, told congressional investigators today Charles Laughton, the actor, had "reflected substantial reductions" in taxes by turning over his Hollywood earnings to a British corporation.

A short time before the treasury investigator laid before the committee the name of a group of prominent capitalists, who he asserted, escaped American taxes by forming foreign corporations.

At the conclusion of today's hearing, the committee, in closed session, authorized Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) to ask the house appropriation committee for legislation for $50,000 for expense.

Vice Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) said the inquiry "may last a good bit."

Irey said Laughton, described as an English citizen, set up a holding company in England and contracted with it to pay him a $20,000 salary in 1935.

At the same time, he said, Laughton handed over to the company all his earnings for that year from American motion picture activities. At these totaled, he said, $190,280.

The earnings of the British company, the treasury official asserted,

Officials Silent On Parsons Case

No Indications on Any Clues Uncovered by Federal Agents

Stony Brook, N. Y. — (AP) — The "case of the missing heiress" ranked with the nation's leading mysteries as it entered its tenth day today.

If the G-men in charge of the case had uncovered a single clue, indicating what happened to Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, Long Island heiress, it was their secret, hidden behind a single reply to nearly all pertinent questions: "No comment."

Even state and local police declared they did not know the machine of the past reply—whether it hid knowledge or ignorance of questioned points.

Whether 35-year-old Mrs. Parsons left her Yale graduate husband and their trim little farm here or her own will, whether she was murdered in connection with an expected inheritance of up to $100,000, or whether she was kidnapped for the $25,000 demanded in a ransom note were puzzling possibilities.

The federal agents ostensibly were working solely on the kidnapping theory. State and local police several times have stated they lean to the murder explanation.

Boy Bicycle Rider Dies When Struck by Auto

Marquette, Wis. — (AP) — Robert Gerwin, 13, town of Portersfield, died at a hospital here last night after he was struck by an automobile on Highway G near Walsh.

The boy and a companion were riding bicycles on the gravel road when a car driven by John Elias of Cravets came from the opposite direction. Elias tried to dodge the bicycles, reports said, but the Gerwin boy slid on the gravel, falling into the path of the car. He died without regaining consciousness.

Coroner Robert L. Thompson and District Attorney Richard P. Murray were investigating.

Weds in Washington

Washington — (AP) — Representative Harry Southoff of Wisconsin, 58, and Mrs. Lenore Gilmore, Port Huron, Mich., were married today by Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house of representatives.

Mrs. Gilmore was secretary to Representative Wolcott of Michigan. The couple left immediately after a brief automobile trip.

11 Senators Charge Administration Heads Toward Socialism, Communism

Madison — (AP) — Eleven, Republican and Democrat senators who figured in two walkouts during senate consideration of the Kennenberger development authority bill this week, issued a statement today charging the LaFollette administration with trying "to plunge the state into socialism and communism."

The statement said:

"The attempts of the present administration to strangle the legislature and to enact laws through executive decree and by executive favor, and to plunge the state into socialism and communism without allowing the representatives of the people to speak freely or debate the issues, meet with our profound disapproval."

The 11 senators protested against Progressives' use of the "gag rule"—the motion for the previous question which shuts off debate—during consideration of the "little TVA."

Compromise Is Advocated on Relief Funds

Robinson Wants States and Cities to Contribute 25 Per Cent

THREE-WAY SPLIT

Leaders Hopeful of Wind-up Debate on Bill Today

Washington — (AP) — The senate's Democratic and Republican leaders backed a compromise today in the heated controversy over local relief contributions.

Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) submitted an amendment to the $1,500,000,000 relief bill requiring states and cities—if able—to bear 25 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects. It was suggested originally by Senator McNary (R-Ore.).

The proposal brought a three-way split in the large Democratic majority. Party members who refused to follow Robinson were divided over two alternatives:

1. The original proposal of Senator Byrnes (D-S C.) to shift 40 per cent of the federal relief burden to local communities.
2. Continuance of the discretion now held by President Roosevelt and Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

Byrnes said he would vote for Robinson's amendment. Leaders expressed hope the senate would wind up its week-long debate over the relief bill today.

Must Satisfy Credit

Robinson, making it clear he was acting on his own initiative in offering his surprise proposal, expressed belief the president held the view he should retain a free hand.

"But if we are to perform our duty with respect to the national budget," he said, "if we are to safeguard the credit of the treasury, we should require that those who are able to contribute to these projects do so in a reasonable amount."

Some Democratic senators who usually follow Robinson's leadership broke with him on the issue.

Senator Schwellbach of Washington denounced the amendment as a Republican proposal.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), often mentioned as the new floor leader should Robinson be appointed to the supreme court, announced he would vote against his senate chief.

He told reporters, however, no question of "revolt" was involved.

Robinson's proposal would permit Hopkins to determine as at present the percentage which local communities should contribute toward relief projects if they are unable to meet the 25 per cent requirement.

Low-Cost Housing Plan Beaten in State Senate

Madison — (AP) — The Kresky bill, permitting cities of the first, second and third classes to establish low-cost housing corporations was killed by the senate late yesterday, 16 to 14.

Senator Philip Nelson (R, Maple), moved reconsideration, however, and his motion was placed on the calendar.

Earlier in the day the assembly had passed a similar measure, the Rubin bill.

Both bills enable municipalities to take advantage of federal aid for slum clearance and construction of homes for persons of low income, through local housing "authorities."

Question Suspect in Dentice Slaying Case

Milwaukee — (AP) — Police today held for questioning a 24-year-old man whom they say attended a party at the Third ward night club which preceded the slaying on June 8 of William Jack Dentice, whose body was found in an automobile.

Police say the man held was denied knowledge of the shooting. Frank La Galbo, 29, has been charged in a first degree murder warrant with slaying Dentice.

Police said the man, who was known as a close companion of Dentice, attended the party which preceded the slaying of the latter, but left the party before Dentice.

Alleged Wreckers are Convicted of Sabotage

Madison — (AP) — An undisclosed number of supposed counter-revolutionary wreckers have been arrested and condemned at Tashkent in Asiatic Russia, it was disclosed today.

Seven officials of the Middle Asian railway shops have been convicted on charges of sabotage. Reports also referred to others but were not clear as to the extent of the roundup of alleged saboteurs. Neither were they clear about what had become of the prisoners.

The railway newspaper, Gudok, charged the shops at Tashkent, an important city on the Middle Asian line, were "overcrowded with criminal elements" who succeeded in paralyzing dozens of locomotives by invading repairs.

An official named Nered, said to be the director in charge of the shops, was held responsible for sabotage even to the extent of shielding known wreckers after they had been exposed.

Tavern Bond Quiz Asked in House

Madison — (AP) — A legislative investigation of the tavern bond controversy was proposed today by Assemblyman Robert Tahan of Milwaukee and F. J. Lingelbach of Oconto, both Democrats.

They introduced a joint resolution, which was sent to committee, asking appointment of three assemblymen and two senators to inquire into the amount of tavern bonds that should have been forfeited because of cases in which forfeitures had not been pressed and the reasons for not prosecuting these cases.

The committee also would determine the effect of the tavern bond, passed by the assembly and now pending in the senate, when their discretion on ordering forfeiture of bonds for minor violations.

The Balzer bill applies retroactively to all cases of law violations since the tavern bond bill was enacted, a number of which are pending in Milwaukee county.

The resolution asks that the investigating committee make a report to this session of the legislature.

Assembly Approves Fund Bill for U. W. Courses in Gaelic

Madison — (AP) — The Irish people of Wisconsin won a victory over the legislative joint finance committee today on the passage of a bill appropriating $12,000 to establish a chair in Gaelic at the University of Wisconsin.

Eighty-nine yeas on the assembly's floor, after a brief debate, gave the bill a majority over the senate's opposition.

The finance committee objected to the appropriation and offered a substitute permitting the chair to be created at the option of the regents. It was defeated.

The measure has one more hurdle to clear. It must be signed by Governor LaFollette.

Coloma State Bank to Be Dissolved, Report

Wautoma, Wis. — (AP) — District Attorney Earl F. Kieren said today that the Coloma State Bank will be dissolved as a result of an apparent $4,000 shortage discovered by bank examiners following disappearance of Alan A. Gibbs, cashier.

Federal and state bank examiners continued working at the closed bank today, checking up on records and conducting other investigations. Kieren said a sum in excess of $4,000 appears to be missing.

The cash and other assets of the bank have been transferred to the People's bank and a sign on the door of the closed bank announced that it is in the hands of the state banking commission for liquidation.

Retain Income Surtax And Tax on Dividends, Administration Urges

No New Levies Needed Under Budget, Duncan Says

PREDICTS PASSAGE

Relief Aid to Counties Not Included in Measure

Madison — (AP) — The administration's revenue bill, re-enacting the present 60 per cent surtax upon incomes and the 2 1/2 per cent privilege tax on stock dividends, was introduced in the senate today and made a special order of business for next Tuesday.

Thomas Duncan, financial secretary to Governor LaFollette, said the bill will supply sufficient funds to meet all of the $86,500,000 appropriated conditionally in the budget bill passed several weeks ago.

He declined to make any estimate at this time of the amount of money the re-enacted taxes would raise, but said there will be no increase in rates, and no change in the taxable brackets of income.

The measure does not make any provision for relief aid to the counties.

Report 3 Fliers Making Daring Hop Across Pole

Soviet Aviators Off on Non-Stop Flight From Moscow to San Francisco

San Francisco — (AP) — A message saying "we are three hours from the North pole, flying nicely," was received here today by Russian Consul General Gregory I. Gokhman from the three soviet airmen enroute from Moscow to Oakland, Calif.

San Francisco — (AP) — William E. Gilmore, head of a committee to check the instruments of a Moscow to San Francisco plane, said today he was advised that three aviators had embarked on the daring flight across the North pole.

Gilmore's information was that the three fliers were Pilot Valeri Okhalov, Co-Pilot George Vaiducov and Navigator Beliakov.

Edmonton, Alta. — (Canadian Press) — Major J. E. Genet, in charge of the Royal Canadian corps of signal station here, said today he had been informed that soviet aviators have taken off on a non-stop flight from Moscow to San Francisco.

Major Genet said he had been advised that the takeoff was at 2 a. m. today, Greenwich meridian time (9 p. m. C. S. T.—Thursday night).

He said his station had made no contact with the soviet plane.

Both Director Patterson of the dominion meteorological bureau in Toronto and the soviet government agent in Seattle, Wash., notified him of the take-off, Major Genet said.

Propose Changes In Council Rule On City Buying

City Clerk Named Purchasing Agent Under Suggested Plan

Proposed changes in one of the common council rules regarding city purchases will be considered by the common council next Monday evening.

Under the proposed rule, drawn up under the supervision of Alderman Keller, the city clerk is named purchasing agent and all purchases for the city must be made through him. He also shall sell all salvaged and waste supplies, merchandise, material or equipment reported to him by any department to the highest bidder under the same general rule and regulation as are applicable for the purchase of materials.

No supplies or equipment of any kind shall be purchased for the city by any official until authority for such purchase has been given by the council, the revised rule states. Under the present rule no supplies may be purchased by any person unless previously ordered by the common council or by requisition authority of the committee or its chairman or the head of a department for which the supplies are intended and not to exceed $100.

Relief Department
The new rule will not include relief department purchases of relief supplies but will include those supplies required for administration purposes of the department such as stationery, desks, files and printing. In cases of immediate need between council meetings, the revised rule permits the committee or department in charge to authorize the head of the department to make requisition to the city clerk. The amount must not exceed $100.

All bids received in response to advertisements shall be referred to and opened by the board of public works which shall report and recommend to the council on those pertaining to public works and refer other bids to the committee recommending the expenditure, for consideration, report and recommendation to the council.

Three Bids Necessary
In cases where cost of supplies, merchandise, material or equipment amounts to $25 and less than $500 the city clerk shall secure at least three bids, if obtainable, which will in turn be referred to the mayor, city clerk and chairman of the committee making the requisition. If cost of goods to be purchased is less than $25, the clerk shall buy same from merchants quoting best prices. At periods to be fixed by the city clerk, the several departments of the city shall file with him a requisition for supplies or material needed during a period stated. He shall approve all bills for purchases made by him before presentation to the finance committee. Bills incurred in violation of the rule shall not be approved by the finance committee.

The city treasurer is authorized, under the revised rule, to make such cash payments as may be necessary for incidental expenses or to meet emergencies arising between council meetings. In the latter case the order must be approved by the mayor. The treasurer may pay all bills for less than a dollar and taking a receipt for the amount. Under the present ruling the chairman of

Eau Claire Mayor Welcomes Moose For 3-Day Conclave

Eau Claire —(U)—The Wisconsin Moose association opened a 3-day convention here this morning with a public session at the State theater.

Mayor D. D. Lockery welcomed the delegates and response was given by Willis Donkey, Menomonie, chief justice of the supreme court of the Loyal Order of Moose, N. R. Smith, Milwaukee, regional director for Wisconsin and Minnesota delivered the address. E. L. Kleckner, Neillsville, state president, took charge after the meeting was opened by William H. Frawley, Jr. Eau Claire, convention chairman.

Paul P. Schmitz, Aurora, Ill., director of the membership enrollment department, will address the convention class to be initiated by the Racine degree staff tonight.

A parade will feature the program Saturday afternoon. William A. Anderson, Indianapolis, supreme dictator, will be the speaker at the alumni banquet Saturday evening.

The convention will close Sunday morning with election of officers.

Kenosha is making a bid for the 1938 convention.

The committee also was given authority to approve a bill in emergency cases.

C. I. O. STRIKE TIES UP VIRGINIA COAL MINE

As an outgrowth of Republic Steel Corporation's refusal to deal with the Steel Workers Organizing committee, John L. Va., seems to be adequate to enforce the demand that the mines be closed.

Park Board Adopts Rules For Use of Tennis Courts

Cooperation of all tennis devotees is sought by the park board in promoting the game and making it possible for the greatest number to use the courts. A set of regulations has been drawn up and approved by the board. The regulations will govern play on all courts. Infractions of the rules may be reported to Harold Jerke, park superintendent.

Following are the rules:
There will be a one set limit on all practice matches, except when no waiting list is present. If no players are waiting there will be no limit of time a court may be used.

At such time as congestion occurs, any persons wishing to play are requested to ask the occupants of whatever court they desire for the use of the court at the conclusion of the set. The players then playing are then required to surrender as soon as the set is over.

If the players giving up a court wish to play another set, they follow the same procedure and get the next reservation on any court not already reserved. In this way players, may by waiting between sets, play as long as they wish.

However, players using one court will not be allowed to reserve another until after they have completed the set in progress.

First come shall be first served. No favoritism will be shown, and the first group requesting a court will be the one that shall have it.

Those waiting to play are requested to ask for a reservation on only one court, and then wait for that one. This will eliminate any confusion that would result in trying to reserve all courts and then taking the first one available.

When the courts are crowded and people are waiting to play no single matches will be allowed. Players are requested to pair up and play doubles.

There will be a five minute limit on all practice warming up prior to playing a set.

No set shall be allowed to last for more than 15 games. If the set in progress shall not have been decided at the end of 15 games the players must surrender the court to any one who has requested it. This will prevent the deliberate prolonging a set for the purpose of retaining a court.

For the duration of the summer vacation at the local schools, no persons under the age of 16 years will be allowed to use the courts on Saturday afternoon, all day Sunday, or on any afternoon from 4 to 8 o'clock. Persons under this age limit may use the courts during the prohibited time, only if the courts are not in demand by eligible players.

Any players disobeying any of the above rules will be subject to expulsion from the courts for the balance of the year.

The courts may be reserved for tournament play by making application to the man in charge at least three days in advance.

Large Drop in Relief Costs Unlikely in June
Another drop in relief costs equal to that of last month, when it was $1,853.79, is unlikely in June, according to F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. He is of the opinion that the relief load is near the minimum mark for the year.

A total of 152 relief cases were cared for last month at a cost of $3,254.61.

One building permit was issued yesterday by the building inspection department. The permit was granted to Christ Delgen, 801 W. Wisconsin avenue, remodel residence and new garage, $1,500.

Phil Gets 2 Bills To Improve Swiss Cheese Industry

Senate Gives Final Legislative Approval to Assembly Measures

Madison—(U)—Two assembly bills designed to improve conditions in the Swiss cheese industry received final legislative approval late yesterday with passage by the senate.

If approved by Governor LaFollette, one measure will repeal present statutory grading requirements and permit the department of agriculture and markets to establish rules on grading and marking.

Department officials said the repeal bill would have no immediate effect but would permit modifications in grading to meet changing needs.

The other bill, if signed by the governor, will not be effective unless approved by the national bureau of standards. It lowers the permissible minimum water-free milk fat content of Swiss cheese from 45 to 42 per cent, and is in the nature of a gesture to induce the federal bureau to permit the 2 per cent tolerance in the moisture content.

The senate also approved the compulsory Bang's disease county test bill, but after passing it 28 to 2, discovered the measure had not received finance committee approval, reconsidered its action and sent the bill to that group.

The assembly bill was amended by the senate to be effective only in counties where 75 per cent of the herd owners approved. The senate also raised the state indemnity to be paid to owners of cattle slaughtered as the result of the tests to a maximum of $20 for all animals. The assembly had fixed a $10 top figure for unregistered cattle.

The senate reconsidered and then rejected an amendment applying the tests only to heifers less than two years old.

Sale of 122 New Cars Recorded in City During May

Outgamic Total for First Five Months of Year Reaches 985

Sale of 122 new passenger automobiles was recorded in Appleton during May, bringing the city's total for the first five months of the year to 602 and the county total to 985, according to a report from the office of Theodore Dammann, secretary of state. County sales during the month totaled 230.

The Winnebago county total of 310 new car sales in May included 34 at Menasha, 55 at Neenah and 204 at Oshkosh. The county total for the 5-month period was 1,237. Menasha 161, Neenah 225 and Oshkosh 755.

Sale of 383 automobiles in Brown county advanced the total for five months to 1,428. Calumet had 76 in May and 281 in five months. Fond du Lac county 248 and 1,019, Shawano county 101 and 375 and Waupaca county 140 and 630.

43 Trucks Sold
Registration of new trucks and other commercial cars showed 43 sales in Appleton and 58 in Outagamie county as a whole during May, bringing the city's total for five months to 125 and the county total to 186.

The 233 sales in Brown county during the first five months of the year included 59 in May while Calumet county had 37 with 4 last month. The Shawano county totals are 17 and 72 and the Waupaca county figures 22 and 100.

Winnebago county's total of 174 trucks in five months included 20 at Menasha, 38 at Neenah and 95 at Oshkosh. There were 21 sales in Oshkosh last month, 9 at Neenah and 5 at Menasha.

Must Pack Electric Razors When Mailed

Dry Shaver outfits, consisting of an electric razor in a fragile bakelite case, when intended for mailing must first be enclosed in a strong cardboard box and this box surrounded with at least one-half inch of cushioning material on all sides and then enclosed in a one, two or three piece double faced corrugated fiberboard box securely fastened with twine or strong adhesive tape, according to Stephen D. Balliet, postmaster. Many purchasers have been returning the razors to manufacturers enclosed in cardboard boxes and this has resulted in damage.

Eau Claire Strike Is Ended by Agreement

Eau Claire —(U)—A strike of 400 workers at the National Pressure Cooker company plant here was ended with a settlement announced late yesterday by Carl Nelson, general manager of the plant.

The strike was called Wednesday, but neither leaders of the Aluminum Workers union or plant officials would make a statement regarding its cause.

City Attorney at Madison Probing Stand's Collapse

Three High School Boys Still in Hospitals For Treatment

Madison —(U)—City Attorney Francis Lamb directed an investigation today of the collapse of a photographer's stand at Central High school which caused injury to 14 members of the senior class.

Three of the victims, all boys, remained in hospitals for treatment. They were Robert Conner, 19, who suffered a leg fracture; Calvin Weir, possible internal injuries, and Wayne Berkley, back injuries.

Eleven youths who were cut and bruised when the temporary stand broke down yesterday during preparations for filming a graduation picture were released after doctors treated them at hospitals and on the school grounds.

Officials tentatively accepted the explanation that soft, rain-soaked ground was the cause of the accident.

Employees of the Reynolds Transportation company erected the stand at an entrance of the school building. It had been used earlier in the day to support 230 students at East High school.

Approximately 50 of the 190 Central High school seniors had ascended to the top row of the state when the breakdown occurred. They plunged about 10 feet to the ground.

Principal Leonard Wachler and a commercial photographer, William Meuer, were posing students. Wachler said none of the bleacher braces was broken.

A class picnic scheduled for yesterday afternoon was cancelled, but Wachler said commencement ceremonies would be held today as planned.

Holding Concerns Abroad Helped Cut U.S. Taxes, Report

were entirely those which Laughlin obtained from the American movie industry.

He added that the entire arrangement "may be perfectly legal," but it is just another illustration, he said, of methods used to get around American tax laws.

Irey outlined ways by which American levies may be avoided, through forming personal holding companies abroad.

This device, he said, was "one of the most dangerous methods" used to get around tax payments. He likened it to an "ambulance chasing racket."

He said it was conservatively estimated that in recent years 555 personal holding companies had been set up in four foreign areas.

He said they were distributed in this manner: the Bahamas 242, Newfoundland, 200, Panama, 46 and Prince Edward Island, 230.

Names Others
Irey said these firms had formed foreign corporations.

Phillip Deffenbacher, a lawyer with several New York firms of international affairs, and a participant in various steamship financing operations.

Julius S. Bach, whom Irey described as "a prior New York capitalist."

Jacob Schiff, a former army colonel, and now a citizen of Canada.

Percy K. Hildreth, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Committee members leaned forward as Irey brought in the name of Schiff, whom he described as a manufacturer of electric razors.

The name of Wallace Groves, New York financier, also was brought in.

"Colonel Schiff had served his country with distinction," Irey said. "He once drew a pension as a retired army officer."

"In 1935, he became a Canadian citizen. As a manufacturer of electric razors, he had a business which proved very profitable. These profits, under American laws, naturally were taxable."

Bahamas Corporation
In November, 1933, the witness said, Schiff formed a Bahamas corporation, to which he assigned $129,000.

The tax on this transfer was $17,737, Irey said, "but if Colonel Schiff had reported his income in a personal return the tax would have been much larger."

Irey said Bach formed two Canadian corporations in 1930, transferring $13,000,000 in assets to one of them, the Wenamah Development Co. Ltd.

"This relieved Bach of the receipt of income which previously had been subject to American taxes," Irey continued. "This company apparently was very prosperous. Its assets increased constantly."

Irey said Groves through several firms controls the United Cigar and Whelan Drug Store chains, and has been in litigation with the bureau of internal revenue for many years.

He said that in 1936 Groves owned National Securities Ltd., which had been organized the year before with a capital stock of $40,000. Five shares of stock were issued, he said.

Tax-Dodgers Often Move To District of Columbia

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington—You cannot appreciate the nature of those congressmen who voted against the local Washington income tax in their own salaries until you realize how small was the price for which they waived their precious right to share the burdens of citizenship.

Dr. Dirksen, the statesman from Pekin, Ill., who fought for the adoption of the tax, estimates on the basis of considerable study, that the average burden on himself and his colleagues would be no more than $25 or $30 a year. Nevertheless, the boys refused even to consider the tax bill, although all of them are exempt from the state income tax, if any, in their home districts.

Mr. Dies, of Texas, who voted against consideration, is entitled to rather special advantages, even for a congressman. Not only is he exempt from the state income tax, of which Texas has none, but he lives in one of the eight states having community property law. This law was the subject of particular complaint in Mr. Roosevelt's recent message on the subject of avoidance and evasion through technicalities having the color of legality.

It is the law which holds that man and wife each receive half of his income for the purposes of tax computation, a peculiarity which enables the citizens of Texas to get their federal taxes by more than half in certain brackets.

Nevertheless, Mr. Dies said: "I am not willing to submit to it (the proposed district income tax) in addition to the federal and state income taxes, and I see no reason why members of congress should not frankly state their position in regard to any criticism they may receive from the newspapers in the district."

Should Include Members of Congress in Income Tax Law

Mr. Dies' willingness to pay a state income tax dealt with a purely hypothetical tax, of course, but he said it was not right and just to impose an income tax on congressmen for the support of the city in which they live much of the time, enjoying special privileges.

Mr. Dirksen caused severe pain among some of his colleagues with his anti-social remarks.

"I do not see," he said, "how you can have an income tax in the District of Columbia that is worthy of the name, unless you include the members of congress and the members of the cabinet as well as the federal employees. There are 127,000 federal employees in the district."

You know and I know that many of them have lived here 20 years and more. They use all of the services that are supplied by the municipality. When we suggest that they ought to pay something like a fair share of the cost of operating this municipality they throw up their hands in horror as if we were proposing to confiscate their property and their earnings.

"We talk about tax evasion and avoidance. This very day we have appointed a joint committee to investigate. We might stop right here on this matter of tax avoidance in order to bring these people (the 3,500,000 public employees in the entire country) within the purview of the federal and state income tax."

O'Connor Voted With Minority on Proposed Law
"I regret to say that owing to the ambiguity of certain remarks of Congressman O'Connor, of New York, these dispatches yesterday placed him on the side of those who opposed the tax. Mr. O'Connor voted with the minority for consideration of the bill, but on closer inspection of his subsequent remarks I cannot make out whether he favored or opposed the tax on the salaries of congressmen.

He was very angry at the wealthy tax-dodgers who come to Washington to avoid income taxes in their home states, and enjoy the low local tax rates, but I am unable to find in his remarks, other than his vote, an indication of his stand on the taxation of congressmen. To give him the benefit of a doubt, it may be assumed then, that he is not unwilling to pay $25 or $30 a year, as estimated by Mr. Dirksen, for the enjoyment of the municipal services of Washington, and the special privileges which are accorded congressmen.

This explanation, however, does not alter the fact that by a law which was slipped through the New York legislature with ostentation a few years ago, Mr. O'Connor is entitled to a state pension for his federal services as a congressman, although he is exempt from the state income tax on his salary.

This little political gem of a law is said to be a rarity and the envy of statesmen from all the other states of the union. Perhaps I shouldn't have mentioned it. It might give other legislatures the same idea.

Hopes Quiz Will Benefit Farmers

Handrich Would Show Margin Between Producer-Consumer Prices

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Purpose of the proposed college of agriculture investigation into the problem of margins between prices paid to farmers and those paid by consumers for milk and other dairy products is to inform the consuming public of the plight of the Wisconsin farmers, according to Assemblyman Alvin A. Handrich (D), Menasha, author of the resolution proposing the investigation.

Only when the consumer who is paying high prices for the products of Wisconsin dairy farms realizes how little of those high prices is returned to the producing farmer will the farmer be able to enlist public support for an agricultural legislative program, said Handrich. Therefore, the college of agriculture will be asked by the legislature to conduct research into the margin paid by the consumer and received by the farmer.

The senate is expected to approve the resolution, which was sponsored by Handrich and Arthur Hitt of Alma, and passed by the assembly last week. The college of agriculture would be given 12 months to inquire into the prices of each specific dairy product and its various grades, the cost of producing such products on the farm and to report its findings to the governor, the legislature and the department of agriculture and markets.

Koepeke Is Low On Paving Bids

Common Council Makes Plans for Paving Four Streets

A hearing on the type of paving desired on Ravinia place and N. Morrison, Packard and S. Lawe street will be held by the common council at 7:30 next Wednesday

Integrated Bar Wins Support in Assembly Test

Association Would Include All Practicing Lawyers in Wisconsin

Madison—(7)—The proposal for an integrated Wisconsin bar group, which, by compulsion would include all of the practicing attorneys of the state, received preliminary approval on a test roll call in the assembly yesterday.

The measure, sponsored by three Republicans, a Democrat and a Progressive, was ordered to third reading, 45 to 42, after three amendments materially changing its provisions had been voted down.

The plan, in principle, is the same as that defeated at the last two sessions of the legislature. It provides for a unified organization of attorneys formed with the approval of the state supreme court.

The proponents contended it will give the profession an effective means of self-disciplining and improve the standing of the bar. The opposition claimed it would only create a tight "closed shop" for attorneys.

Attorney members of the house were divided on the bill.

Biemiller's Proposals

Three of the rejected amendments were offered by Assemblyman Andrew J. Biemiller (R), Milwaukee. The first provided that any lawyer with "conscientious objections" could refuse to join the integrated bar. A second required a free legal aid society for indigents in each county.

The third proposed to change the name of the group to the "Wisconsin Lawyers Guild" which is the cognomen of a newly-formed group of attorneys not associated with the Wisconsin State Bar association. Governor LaFollette is a member of the guild.

Also defeated was an amendment by Assemblyman James T. Cavanaugh (D), Antigo, an attorney, which would have required law graduates of Wisconsin and Marquette universities to pass state bar examinations before being admitted to practice.

Assemblyman Mark Cathin (R), Appleton, a youthful attorney, said an integrated bar would be a valuable asset to young lawyers.

ROSES FOR DECORATION

The will provides that the home be used by the widow and that the remainder of the estate be divided among the widow, four daughters, Mary Rose, Elizabeth Ann, Margaret and Jean, and two sons, John and Joseph, all of Appleton, but be held under certain trust provisions. M. A. Schuh is trustee.

Appleton Man Helped Found Drug Company

Announcement of the sale of the Milwaukee Drug company, one of the oldest wholesale drug firms in the northwest, to McKesson and Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn., negotiations for which are on the verge of completion, is of interest in Appleton because the late Otto Kuehnsted of Appleton was one of the owners of the company when it was known as Jerman, Pflueger and Kuehnsted company in 1894. In 1906 the business was reincorporated as the Milwaukee Drug company.

Mr. Kuehnsted was the father of Mrs. L. H. Moore, Mrs. R. K. Wolter, and A. O. Kuehnsted of Appleton, Russell and Renfrew Kuehnsted of Neenah, and Mrs. Harold Zonne of Los Angeles, Calif.

A RANK BILL RELATING TO SMALL LOANS

Four years ago Wisconsin emerged from a state of chaos in regard to small loans. It enacted a law putting the control of this business under the Banking Commissioner, authorizing him to fix rates of interest and opening up to him the audited books of the small loan companies who are thus held to a reasonable earning upon the amount of money invested in their business.

Yet there is a bill known as 442A before the legislature that is being pushed and prodded on its way by interests that are themselves animated by some motive certainly not to the benefit of the state, and most assuredly not to the benefit of the small borrower.

This bill seeks to fix the rates of interest for three different classes of loans, and of course elbows the Banking Commissioner out of authority. One could see immediately that the necessary elasticity with the right to change rates as business conditions alter the risks involved is dropped for a hard, fast, brittle and suffocating rule that is bound to do harm to someone. And you can bet that someone will be the small borrower.

The bill is so unintelligent as to authorize the highest rate of interest on the best loans, the secured ones, and to compel the lowest rate of interest on the greatest risks.

If the old time loan sharks, their jowls dripping with saliva, or professional finance racketeers are not personally behind this bill and pushing it so that they might drive the orderly, supervised loan companies out of the state and come in and mop up in their absence, then who is?

We have had occasion to read the detailed reports of the small loan business as presently conducted in this state and made not by a hundred nor a thousand but by 5,000 borrowers to whom was submitted a questionnaire and whose answers were recorded by the Banking Commissioner. These 5,000, picked at random by the commissioner, bore testimonials so loudly in praise of their treatment, the generosity and patience of the companies when misfortune overtook them, and their almost 100 per cent support of the companies involved and the business as conducted to lead one to almost imagine that he was approaching the environs of Utopia.

But the three-bill racket is pounding on the gates, the slugger and the gunman are looking for fields of operation and nothing has ever been so soft for them in the past as the small borrower, friendless, usually propertyless, and alone, whom they can pick to pieces.

The idea that Wisconsin could think of going back to the miserable conditions prevailing before this business was put on an honorable plane is consistent only with the conclusion that it has lost its head.

DISBARMENT IS INDICATED

During the trial of William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois Tax Commission, the evidence was undisputed that lawyers standing high in the ranks of their profession turned over large sums of money to Mr. Malone as "political contributions."

One Huff, an attorney for the Chicago Street Railways testified that he received $20,000 from his company as a fee, cashed the check, and turned $10,000 over to Mr. Malone in thousand dollar bills. One Tuttle, attorney for the Pullman Company and the North Shore Gas Company, testified that in four years he received $70,000 from his companies, and turned over $60,000 of that in cash to Malone. There was other similar testimony. The total amount so far as Malone was well over half a million dollars.

The federal prosecutor had to tell some of these lawyers to get them to testify. The federal court passed sentences of contempt on one because before the grand jury he sought to avoid and evade the issue. Finally they made frank statements probably because they saw the goose on the table in well cooked form, in other words the government had plenty of testimony to show their perjury. With prison for either themselves or Malone they preferred the distinction for Malone.

The federal prosecutor claimed this money was not passed "for political purposes."

poses." Had it been it would not be income to Malone. The jury decided, on ample evidence, the money was a direct bribe to affect Malone's decision on the tax commission and that the wanderings of the money were carefully concealed by making it appear as legitimate fees for the company's lawyers and necessitating their conspiracy with Malone to hide the slimy trail.

And the question is how long are such lawyers, bribers and conspirators, to be permitted to practice their profession? Because they have been "leading" members of the bar are they exempt from the same punishment that ought to be meted out to ambulance chasers but often isn't?

And the questions bring us back to the fact that every time courts try to disbar lawyers who have political or financial power they find legislators, "the representatives of the people," interfering with the disbarment.

Every time you hobble or trip courts in their judicial functions you blacken the scrolls of justice.

THE REDS FOMENT DEMOCRACY PROTECTS

The fact that world peace may sometimes be seriously menaced by a few irresponsible madcaps or dangerous adventurers became again clearly outlined in the attack of the Spanish Reds upon both German and Italian boats patrolling at or near far from the Spanish border but coming where they were by the very consent of the attackers.

The task of passing upon the conflicting charges is impossible of satisfactory solution except as some fact is established highly inconsistent with innocence. That the Reds had a purpose entirely malicious aimed at embroiling the continent seems likely because the German boat and crew were unprepared for the attack and as surprised at it as the rest of the world.

Nevertheless the Nazi reprisal by bombarding an open Spanish port is contrary to the accepted usage known as international law, and as savage in all its fearful implications as the shooting of innocent hostages who are powerless to affect the course of events.

Resort by the Germans to such a crude and barbarous method shows the condition of tempers because, ordinarily, redress would first be sought directly from the guilty combatant.

The bright spot that shines through the European gloom is furnished by Britain. The immediate offer by London of "useful friendship" to Berlin for the maintenance of peace is the unfolding of what appears to us as the deliberate policy for which England strives—that war simply must be avoided at all hazards.

The great strength and resolution of the British empire, and its determination to see a cause through to the end, however bitter, once it has undertaken it, are all too well known on the continent to permit of self-deception or any other form of misrepresentation.

England's act was particularly appropriate and opportune. Just when Berlin was in its most furious mood an old, war-scarred and honored adversary practically took the Germans by the hand and said: "Keep your head and we will be your friends."

Without Britain it seems clear beyond fair argument that another European war would be in full action along many fronts and perhaps covering thousands of miles.

SITTING ON OUR RIGHTS

A cartoonist recently pictured in a travel office a rather portly and wistful-faced lady who had evidently had her share of getting the children off to school, keeping the living room straightened up, aaking sure there was enough in the house for dinner and seeing that father's socks were darned.

She surveyed the brightly colored posters of like young athletes of both sexes engaged in diving, swimming, surfing, skating, skiing, hiking, playing tennis and badminton, from Waukegan to the Norway fjords. At length she timidly asked the clerk, "Isn't there some place where one can go and just sit?"

Apparently, if she had only known it, one can sit down almost anywhere. It took the sit-down strikers in France, and in Michigan, where another wave of strikes is making news at the moment, to start the process of discovery. But once started it has spread apart to many places. In the South children here and there sit down to school. In the north, the club to appear to ourselves over the golf links in early morning, and in the west, a rather touching scene of several dozen sightless men and women to come by their work of brush and log in the mountains of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind in Pittsburgh unless bettered by the union strike of Tony Dine, a diver at Port Arthur, Ont., who bargained for better pay, it is the better of Lake Superior, and probably in a number of all the day-in-the-sun spots of the five-and-ten-cent stores of Detroit it spread to the zebra girls of Japan.

There is a new wave of the sit-down in the automobile industry at Santa Monica, a threat of Negro strikes at a Birmingham, Ala., club to appear to ourselves over the golf links in early morning, and in the west, a rather touching scene of several dozen sightless men and women to come by their work of brush and log in the mountains of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind in Pittsburgh unless bettered by the union strike of Tony Dine, a diver at Port Arthur, Ont., who bargained for better pay, it is the better of Lake Superior, and probably in a number of all the day-in-the-sun spots of the five-and-ten-cent stores of Detroit it spread to the zebra girls of Japan.

CURRENT COMMENTS

Jonah:

Wherever there is sugar you will find flies, and wherever there is a pay envelope you will find agitators.

Here we are talking about more judges, when we aren't taking in enough money to pay those we have now.

Speaking of the Supreme Court, we have never seen anything that was strengthened by diluting it.

May receipts of hogs in Chicago were the lowest since 1878. When we killed the little pigs, we forgot we were also killing their descendants.

If the president ever does become the Supreme Court, we hope we won't have to wait as long for his decisions as we have for his decision on the sit-down strikes.

—DEE JAY CEE

Tsk, tsk, fella, this is treason. The king can do no wrong. And what passes for sin in others is evidence of high character in the Roosevelt. Sure it is. He planned it that way.

SUPREME COURT

The air was soft and it was spring.
 On opened wing
 Life reappeared in everything.
 The clouds hung low and shed warm rain.
 Elixirs of life again
 To plants that long had dormant lain.
 That year I saw nature expand.
 On every hand
 Was plenty in a happy land.

And then I saw another year.
 Still living things were brown and sear
 Complacency had turned to fear.
 Old nature has a sterner side.
 Man must abide
 By laws that seem not justified.
 Like moving pawns are joy and fear.
 Nature each year
 Moves one and one will disappear.

PAGING MR. FARLEY

Jim — Jim — oh, JIMMEE!! Didja see what happened in Minneapolis, Jim? Yeah, Minneapolis, where, last fall, you gave the Democrats the run-around to insure the Roosevelt vote along with the radical ticket? They had an election recently in Minneapolis, Jim, (they've had strikes and terrorism previously, Jim) and who do you suppose won? Not the Farmer-Laborites, Jim. Not the Democrats, Jim. Shhh — it was the Republicans!

Now see if you can make Mr. Big come down to earth.

THE FIVE O'CLOCK PARADE

Every night they come
 Down familiar ways.
 With no blooming drum,
 With no flag to raise.
 Music does not beat!
 Trumpets are not played!
 Just the rushing feet
 Of the five o'clock parade!

What a traffic jam!
 All the town goes home!
 Here the swift brakes slam!
 Racing with the dawn,
 Journeying on foot
 While the sunbeams fade.
 Hear the gay horns toot
 In the five o'clock parade!

Put the kettle on!
 Lay the cloth for tea!
 One who left at dawn
 Hurries home to me!
 Happy in my place,
 Glad for sun and shade,
 I can see your face
 In the five o'clock parade!

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, June 17, 1927

One hundred fifty Moose delegates to the eleventh annual state convention of their order being held in Appleton this weekend attended the initiation of the convention class of Appleton Loyal Order of Moose Thursday night.

Edward C. Aylward, 58, president of the Neenah Foundry company, died at 8:30 Thursday evening at his home on Du Lac.

About 95 employees of the Greenen Dry Goods company attended the party given by the company Wednesday night at Hotel Appleton in honor of the formal opening of the company's new enlarged store today.

Marriage licenses were granted by the county clerk Friday morning to Arthur Jansen, Little Chute, and Evangeline Windisch, Kaukauna; Ben Kiefer, Blake Creek, and Clara Steffen, Appleton; and Michael P. Tavilian, Appleton, and Sophia Benke, Appleton.

25 YEARS AGO

Friday, June 21, 1912

General Edward S. Bragg, famous commander of the historic Iron Brigade in the Civil war, died last Thursday at his home in Fond du Lac.

Luther Lindauer, Kaukauna, a delegate to the national Democratic convention in Baltimore, plans to leave for the eastern city Sunday.

The Shiocton Telephone company, owned by E. R. Bowerman, has been sold to Walling and Kimberly of Oshkosh, who will take charge of the exchange on July 1.

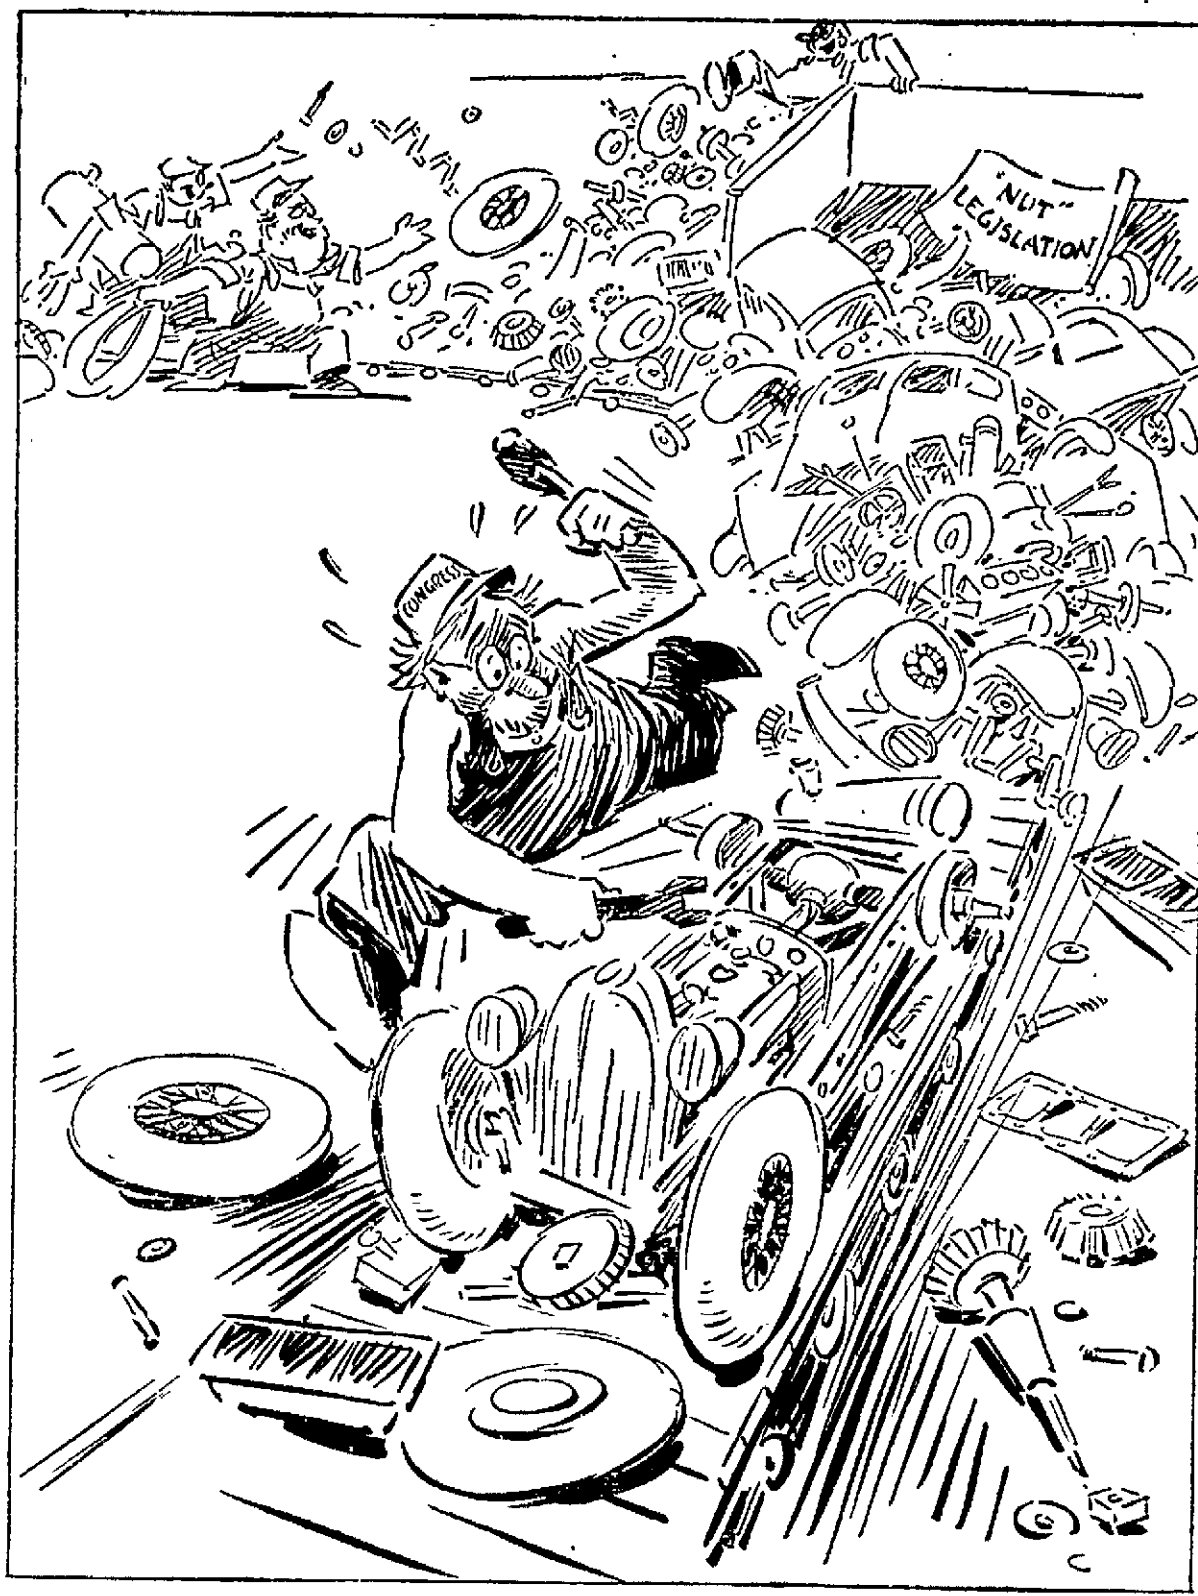

The Grand Lodge degree was conferred on four Appleton men at the grand lodge convention of the Knights of Pythias of Wisconsin that day at Oconomowoc. The four who were honored were J. H. Noller, H. K. Pratt, Louis Bonini and John L. Hettlinger.

County Clerk William Wolf returned from Grand Rapids that day where he attended the county clerk's convention.

A British air transportation company which recently purchased five American transport planes has been advertising the fact to increase its air traffic on northern European routes.

Whisky exports from the United States during the first three months of this year were almost 23 times the amount exported in the corresponding period of last year.

NATURAL BREATHING FOR RELAXATION

Adults subject to high tension, "nervousness," high blood pressure, poor circulation, cold feet, difficulty in getting to sleep, chronic myocarditis (slow heart muscle failure), shortness of breath on exertion, asthma, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, chronic arthritis, suboxalation, slow metabolism—boy, this is last year's almanac—ought to practice natural breathing for relaxation. It is good for the circulation and steady to the nerves, or anyway it is good for what you poor misguided geeks call "nerves."

A normal person can take a full breath, when sitting at rest, then hold his breath for 40 to 45 seconds. After half a dozen inhalations of the bellows—the belly—the same person can hold his breath from 60 to 90 seconds, perhaps two minutes. The length of time a person at rest can hold his breath is a gauge of the efficiency of his circulation. Remember, the chief purpose of the circulation is internal respiration, that is, carrying oxygen to the cells of all the body tissues and carrying carbon dioxide back to the lungs to be blown off.

It is a mistake to imagine you can increase the absorption of oxygen by deep breathing. Every such spurt of deeper or faster breathing, though certainly it saturates the blood with oxygen, is invariably compensated by a period of shallower breathing or no breathing at all, so that the normal proportions of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood and tissues are restored in a few minutes. The phase of diminished breathing balances the phase of increased breathing, except for the muscular effort involved. Indeed the only way a person can voluntarily increase the absorption of oxygen in the blood and tissues, and of course the metabolism, is by exercise, muscular work of one kind or another.

The notion that the type of breathing in woman is costal, that is, with the chest, and in men diaphragmatic, that is, with the belly, is misleading. Many men whose physical education has been neglected breathe poorly, unnaturally, too. On the other hand, many women today who have proper physical training, breathe well, naturally, with the belly. Old time costs made it virtually impossible for the woman to breathe well. She had to breathe mainly with the upper chest if at all. There is no inherent difference in the type of breathing of man and woman; in the past woman's breathing was seriously hampered and her type correspondingly impaired. Native American women who have never worn corsets nor had any special physical education (Indians) breathe naturally and well.

Whoever wishes to learn the art of easy breathing (detailed instructions in Little Lesson 20, "The Art of Easy Breathing") for which send stamped envelope, bearing your correct address and inclose ten cent stamp (1) keep his mind off his chest, pretend the chest is paralyzed or an immovable case; and (2) record his belly as a bellows. In order to understand the action of the bellows, one must have a practical knowledge of the anatomy and physiology of the breathing muscle, the diaphragm.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ice Cream and Crab Meat

Will you be good enough to advise whether there is any ground for the common belief that ice cream should not be eaten at the same meal with lobster or crab meat? (O. R. M.)

Answer—There is no ground for the notion. I have been cautioned repeatedly by kindly waiters, but so far they have never had to carry me out.

After Appendectomy
 How long after an appendectomy operation is it safe to become pregnant? What effect upon the health has climbing ten flights of stairs daily? What effect has stair climbing on pregnancy? (Mrs. L. M.)

Answer—It was just nineteen years after my appendix operation that Old Bill Turner studied my profile and asked what I was going to name it. Normally pregnancy a month or six weeks after appendectomy is safe. Climbing stairs is rather beneficial exercise for the prospective mother. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and inclose ten cent coin for booklet "Preparing for Motherhood" or if I'll stranger has already arrived ask for "The Brady Better Baby Book."

Ben Is Back
 I have Ben Todd clear coffee is less harmful than coffee creamed and sugared? (Miss J. H.)
 Answer—Coffee clear or with cream or sugar is not harmful but beneficial to most adults.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"

If June 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m. from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

If someone is not punctual in keeping an engagement this day, it might be well to bear in mind that sometimes it is better to be late than never. It is advisable for two heads to do the planning of social activities this day. Be careful how you repeat things for trouble may be caused by getting news twisted or giving someone the wrong impression. Suggestions will be in order, if your opinion is requested regarding anything of importance. Should you refuse to make any decisions or your attitude will be resentful. Do not judge too much by any person's expression this day because the unintelligent-looking person is apt to be wise while a very clever-appearing individual may have no practical sense at all. Married and engaged couples as well as those enamored of someone's personality or charm will do well to remember that true love should withstand any test it might be put to.

If a woman and June 19 is your birthday, you are probably very thoughtful, just and kind. You never intentionally do anyone an injustice. You may, however, be a little too reluctant to accept excuses for mistakes friends or relatives make. You possibly will discover that Wednesday mornings are usually very propitious for the advancement of your personal affairs, the writing of important letters, and the planning of social activities. Be discriminating when it comes to selecting intimate friends, for promiscuous friendships might involve you in embarrassing situations. Through the stage, newspaper work, brokerage, the lecture or concert platform or the school room you may win financial independence. There is little chance of your ever having any cause to regret marrying.

The child born on June 19, as a rule, is usually bright, very active and attractive. Generally by the time it reaches its majority, a successful career is awaiting this youngster.

If a man and June 19 is your natal day, you perhaps have a remarkable amount of foresight and business acumen. As a publisher, author, printer, publicity man, actor, engineer, lawyer, artist or musician your efforts are likely to be well rewarded.

Successful People Born on June 19:

Lemuel Hopkins, physician and poet.
 George Kellogg, inventor.
 Charles C. Everett, clergyman and author.
 Sam Walter Foss, poet.
 William Henry Webb, ship-builder.
 Charles Loring Brace, philanthropist.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Those were the days—When Jeanne Eagels was confiding to her friends. They want me to do a new play, and I'm going to do it, but it's been turned down by so many managers that I wonder whether it's any good. The play was "Rain."

When Dempsey was training for Luis Firpo and Jimmy DeForest had this to say: "Jack should win inside of two rounds, but if he doesn't he will be facing a highly dangerous situation."

When Big Jess Willard sank to his knees under a rain of blows from this same Firpo and 20,000 people chanted in unison: "Come on Jess; come on, Jess."

When Rudolph Valentino was dancing in New York and women everywhere had a Latin complex. When the old Waldorf was at 34th and Fifth and Peacock Alley was the most famous promenade in the world.

When Jimmy Walker was the Boy Mayor and first nights were really ebullient affairs. When the Diamonds and the Rothsteins were alive and there were brawls in the speakeasies every night.

When Tex Guinan was coining money by coining phrases, and two of them were "Hello, sucker," and "Give this little girl a great big hand."

When 2,000,000 New Yorkers climbed to the rooftops and roared bravos at Balbo as he led his Italian armada down the Hudson.

When Barbara LaMarr was the epitome of sophisticated sirens and Fatty Arbuckle was the funniest of all comedians.

When John McGraw said it with fists whenever one of his players flouted his authority.

When Libby Holman, an unknown torch singer, crooned "Oh Give Me Something to Remember You By."

And Tamara woke up the town with "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." When Hubbell pitched that 18-inning 1-0-0 shutout against the St. Louis Cardinals that Sunday afternoon and Parmelee came right back with another 1-0-0 white-washing over the 9-inning route. When Maurice Stiller got off a boat from Sweden leading a tail, lanky air by the hand and said to the ship news reporters: "Gentle-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — The neutrality act has come home to roost. Actually it never has been a neutrality act. It is an isolationist act that makes neutrality difficult, and the German-Spanish incident provides a fine example of how difficult it can be.

Look over the situation. Spanish government airplanes bombed the German port battleship, the Deutschland. Maybe the battleship fired at the planes first, maybe it didn't. That's in dispute. But to get even for the attack, another battleship and lesser runabouts steamed to a Spanish government town and cut loose with a hail of fire.

Drawbacks
 Now Secretary of State Hull must set about applying impartially the neutrality act. Already it has been applied to both sides in Spain. So the Spanish government, which bombed the Deutschland can buy no more bombs or planes from the United States. But Germany which shelled Almeria, can go right on buying from the United States more shells, planes, engines, or whatever else it asks.

But if Secretary Hull wants to apply the act to Germany, he first must declare that Germany is at war with Spain. Now it is no small thing to call a first class fighting nation a belligerent, especially when that nation is striving to preserve the appearance of being peaceful and law abiding. It is internationally libelous.

It might be the neutral thing to do. But would it be smart? Would it be truly isolationist?

Secretary Hull, while hidden by the so-called neutrality act to be neutral, impartial and isolated, has never wanted to be isolated. He has wanted to use the weight of United States' influence to preserve peace.

Peace Threat
 But would it be really helping out the cause of peace, or even of isolation, for the secretary to get out the international branding iron and burn "belligerent" into the tender hide of a Germany already rubbed raw in spots from its rough contacts with various nations, including the United States?

It might thwart every effort of Great Britain to preserve some semblance of European equanimity. There is pressure on the secretary to act this way and that "Brand 'em," says Borah of Idaho. He has been a foe of the act all along, and perhaps was using this method to show the country what a peach of an instrument of peace and security it is—not.

But Hull, still heady enough, seems of no mind to be using the branding iron, yet.

HOUSEWORK NO BAR

Canadian, Tex. — (P) — Keeping house and cooking their meals haven't kept 32 boys from making outstanding records at the A. and M. college says J. O. Stovall, Hemphill county agent and sponsor of the group.

The boys live in a cooperative house on the campus and have held their expenses to $15 a month. Stovall says Earl Breeding, a senior, made the highest grades last semester.

men, this is a new personality and I am going to take to Hollywood and make her a great star. Her name is Greta Garbo."

Where are they now? Stiller, Jeanne Eagels, Jimmy DeForest, Valentine, Tex Guinan, Garbar La Marr, Fatty Arbuckle, McGraw, Diamond and Rothstein are all dead. Firpo and Willard are in obscurity. Dempsey is still an idol. Libby Holman is in England, Hubbell is the premier pitcher in baseball, and Parmelee is with the Chicago Cubs. So it goes. Here today, and but why bother about tomorrow? Tomorrow will catch up soon enough.

Forget Father's Day if you want to but don't forget father

The day's not important . . . but the Dad is.

It's the one day in the year when you have the opportunity of turning the tables and giving Dad a gift instead of asking him a favor.

Father's Day gifts here start at 50 cents for neckwear . . . go to $5 for slacks . . . and right up to $16.75 for Palm Beach Suits.

And remember this . . . that your Father isn't as old as he thinks you'll be at his age.

The young couple left for a week's trip in Minnesota. When they return they will make their home on Payne Point near Neenah. The bride is a graduate of the Holy Cross Parochial school and of Kaukauna High school. The bridegroom was graduated from Hortonville High school and also attended the Oshkosh Business college.

Harbor Job to Win O. K., But Funds are Delayed

Washington (U-P) Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin said today the pending rivers and harbors bill would authorize improvement of the Cornucopia, Wis., harbor, but no funds will be made available for the project until next year.

The work, to cost approximately $11,000 with $200 annually for maintenance, would create a channel entrance 50 feet wide and 10 feet deep, and two slips 50 feet wide and 8 feet deep, one to be 250 feet long and the other 300 feet. An irregularly shaped turning basin eight feet deep at the intersection of the slips also is planned.

Duffy said the bill is seeking assurance that the earliest possible action on this project will be taken in view of its "urgency." The narrow channel and shallow water at Cornucopia, he said, have presented difficulties to the fishing fleet using the harbor.

City Officials Will Attend Madison Meet

Mayor Goodland, Alderman Keller, chairman of the relief committee, and Alderman DeLand, chairman of the council legislative committee, will attend an executive committee meeting of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Madison Monday. ## Fatal Auto Accident Is Ruled Accidental

Marinette (U-P) A coroner's jury returned a verdict yesterday that Joseph Bauer, Menominee, Mich., died Monday as the result of an unavoidable accident.

Bauer was struck by an automobile as he walked on United States Highway 41 Saturday night. Lavern Roenfranz, Marinette, driver of the car, testified he and his passengers had alighted after the impact but were unable to discover what they had struck. He said he returned later and searched again.

Bauer was found in a ditch six hours later, and died in a Menominee, Mich., hospital.

Prepare for Missionary Meeting Here

In preparation for the state missionary convention of the American Lutheran church which will be held in Appleton Oct. 7, committees to take care of various phases of the plans were appointed at a meeting of Women's Missionary society of First English Lutheran church last night at the parish hall. Registration will be under the direction of Mrs. Carl Grimm, Mrs. Harold Helbing, Mrs. Carl Kreuter and Mrs. Jacob Pawer; ushers will include Mrs. Harry Junge, Mrs. Gordon Larsen, Mrs. Frank Koch, Mrs. William Gust, Mrs. Edward McGregor, and Mrs. Rudolph Riser; the kitchen committee will consist of Mrs. Albert Kranzsch, Mrs. John Baunier, Mrs. Henry Kranzsch, Mrs. Louis Kaufman, Mrs. Gust Lemke, Mrs. Gust Radtke, Mrs. Louis Reinke, Mrs. Edgar Sieth, Mrs. Minnie Thompson and Mrs. Matt Wheeler; and the dining room committee will include Mrs. Ray DeLong, Mrs. Walter Plamann, Mrs. Louis Hodgden, Mrs. Victor DeLong, Mrs. Henry Koester, Mrs. Walter Koester, Mrs. George Schneider, and Mrs. Reuben Wal-lace.

The Rev. F. C. Reuter presented the topic of "The Sacred Tenth" at the meeting last night. The serving committee included Mrs. E. Sonntag, Mrs. G. Schneider, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. O. Tornow, Mrs. E. Tornow and Mrs. H. Voeks.

Mrs. Herman Bardenhagen, 118 W. Oklahoma street, was hostess to the social welfare circle of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon at her home. Eight members were present, and the afternoon was spent sewing on aprons for the bazaar to be held at the church in the fall. The circle's next meeting will be a picnic July 14 at Pierce park.

Plans for their fall bazaar were discussed by members of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin when they met Thursday night at Columbia hall. Next Sunday morning the Sodality will attend the 7:30 mass and receive communion in a body at St. Mary Catholic church.

Miss H. E. Fabrizio, Wa Keeney, Kansas, has been engaged to teach the third and fourth grades at Zion parish school for next year, succeeding Miss Edna Kellwitz who was recently released. Miss Fabrizio was graduated from Hebron college, Hebron, Neb., this year.

Miss Ella Appenfeld, a teacher and nurse in the Moravian orphanage at Bethel, Alaska, will speak Sunday morning at Freedom Moravian church. The Moravian church has among her foreign mission activities work among the Eskimos in northwestern Alaska, her main stations being situated along the Kuskokwim river. Miss Elizabeth Mevaldt, sister of Mrs. Walter Groat of Freedom, was among the mission workers there for a number of years before her death in 1934.

Youth Congress May Go to Court to Win Use of Clubhouse

Milwaukee (AP)—Leaders of the National Youth Congress contemplated today carrying their fight to circuit court for permission to use the Eagles' clubhouse as the site of their national convention, July 2 to 5.

L. F. Durner, receiver operating the Eagles' refused facilities to the congress yesterday because of a rule, which, he said, prohibited Negroes from using the clubhouse.

Convention officials estimated about 200 of the 2,000 delegates expected to be Negroes. Miss Miriam Bogorad, administrative assistant of the congress, said the courthouse would be picketed during the convention unless Durner changed his mind.

Following her announcement, executives of the congress said they planned to confer with Circuit Judge Otto Breidenbach, under whose jurisdiction the receiver is operating, to determine the extent of Durner's authority.

Abbott Simon, Washington, D. C., legislative director for the congress, said a suit might be brought against the club's management for breach of contract, which he said was in the form of a memorandum agreement signed by William J. Huber, assistant manager.

Manawa Lawmaker Author Of Book on Monetary System

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—His constituents probably don't know it, but Alvin A. Handrich, Progressive Waupaca county assemblyman, is an author.

His opus does not appear on the best seller lists, and his scrapbook contains no clippings of critics' comments, but an ambitious piece of work from his pen is being distributed throughout the state.

It is "The American Monetary System," a part of Handrich's promotion efforts in his self-appointed task of obtaining instruction in financial affairs for the students of state high schools.

For the last two sessions Handrich has introduced a bill in the legislature to provide for compulsory teaching of the American monetary system in state high schools. Two years ago the measure was defeated in the house, but this session the author succeeded in winning over enough of his colleagues to pass it. Recently, however, the senate vetoed the proposition.

But in Handrich's mind the subject is not dead and he is busy distributing his book filled with discussion of the matter to all who appear to be interested. With the theme of "let the government control money and credit," Handrich explains in his preface that he wrote the piece "for the purpose of pointing out one of the great evils that exists in this nation."

"In fact," he continues, "the effect of this evil is felt by more people than the effect of any other one evil in existence. This evil is the monetary system, with its inflation and deflation."

After a thorough discussion of the horrors of inflation and deflation, "the big bad wolves" of the present money system, Handrich demands that the public "do something."

"The only way to bring the facts to the people in this country is through our educational system. The only way that can be done is for the legislature to pass a bill that will add one more study to the curriculum of our schools. If the people are never taught anything, they will never know anything. The only reason the people of this country allow rackets to exist is that they do not know that there is something radically wrong—do not know how to combat the situation."

"Let Wisconsin lead the way," Handrich concludes as he launches into an explanation of the currency and banking system of the country, a review of American financial history, and his own proposed solution, government control of money and credit.

And it is a safe wager that Mr.

Assembly Almost Decides to Move Wisconsin Government to Wausau

Madison (AP)—For a few fleeting moments yesterday the assembly was in a mood to move the seat of state government from Madison to Wausau.

They did not explain but when Assemblyman James T. Cavanaugh, Antigo, Charles A. Budlong, Marinette, and Paul T. Fuhrman, Bowler, proposed a constitutional amendment to make the change nearly everyone was for it.

There was an inference that the joint resolution to amend the constitution had something to do with Senator Roland E. Kannenberg of Wausau, militant Progressive leader and author of the "little TVA" bill, but Budlong explained differently.

"The real purpose," he said in an impassioned voice, "is to get the capital away from the state university because there is too much politics. Let's donate this capital building to Dane county for a courthouse. It is no good as a capitol."

By a vote of 55 to 26 the assembly engrossed the resolution and all but a few of the serious-minded had a good laugh.

Assemblyman H. S. Halvorsen (D), Westby, arose quickly and moved that the house adjourn so that visiting school children in the galleries "will not think we are all damn fools."

Then, on motion of Assemblyman Charles B. Perry, Wausau, the veteran Republican who is accustomed to house rules, the resolution was killed, 57 to 27.

Players Should Avoid Experimental Practices

BY ELY CULBERTSON

I often have commented on the good features and good influence of duplicate bridge. But it is a regrettable fact that there are items on the other side of the ledger. In rubber bridge one atrociously bad hand may create a swing that will dominate the session's score. At duplicate bridge, with the potential loss on any hand limited to one zero, players of a certain type are easily tempted into "experimental practices." I refer to a bid such as that made by South in today's hand.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JOJOE TONNER
In counting your first six cards to determine whether or not to bid, should you assign any value to pure length in the trump suit (exclusive of the cash value of the cards)? Yes. As you know, the last trick is worth ten points, and the player who has the longer trump holdings has by far the better chance to score the trick in such a way as to win the last trick. When you have four trumps, the odds are about two to one that your opponent will hold no more than two. That gives you a fine chance to win the last trick and, for that reason, an extra value of 10 points should be assigned to a four card trump length.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

South's possible opening bid is the type that was prevalent in duplicate games not many years ago. This idea of making preemptive speeches was thoroughly investigated by eastern experts, and dropped hastily from many a burned finger.

Although there is some merit in an occasional psychic bid at a low level, the basic structure of contract is such that no great liberty can be taken at the eight, nine, and ten trick levels. There is a close analogy here to the sophistry that leads players to pass certain minimum hands originally, only to come in at a more dangerous level with a secondary bid.

Thus, when South opened his hand with three clubs it did not matter what his object was, nor how transcendental was his psychology. The unvarnished fact remained that he was contracting for nine tricks with a hand that could produce on the most liberal estimate about five tricks. The further fact that he gave his partner a problem impossible of solution was of secondary importance.

It is true that North-South were not using the two-way three-bid and that, therefore, North did not count on a solid or almost solid club suit with seven sure winners in the South hand. But, since the bid had been made when vulnerable, North would have had to be clairvoyant to visualize a hand as bad as South actually held.

South might have saved something from the wreck by passing to three spades (at least as long as it was undoubted), but of course it was hardly to be expected that a player who would make such an opening bid then would make an intelligent pass!

The point is that, from the three club bid on, complete chaos reigned in the place of orderly exchange of information.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question: What is the correct response to an opening two diamond bid with the following hand?

♠ A K Q 9 7 4 2 ♦ 10 9 3 ♣ K 7 4

Answer: Four no trump. This response usually should be avoided, but in this case there is no other response available.

Story of the Circus

V—CLOWNS
A circus would be a very different thing if it were not for the clowns. They run and jump about, and make people laugh by doing things which seem very foolish.

A few circus clowns.
Circus folk have the custom of calling clowns "Joey's," and the name is used sometimes by people not in the circus. How did the nickname come about?

It came from a clown named Joseph (or "Joey") Grimaldi who lived more than a hundred years ago. He was so clever, and made people burst into such hearty laughter, that his fame spread far and wide.

We are told that Grimaldi was "as plump as a Dutch cheese," and that he had "a large, fat face, as round as a full moon." His looks were funny, his words were funny and his way of acting was funny. A person who saw him act a single time was likely to remember him for years.

Grimaldi was born in England, and his great success was won on the London stage. When people heard he was to act, they went crowding to the theater. His singing and tumbling, as well as his merry words, pleased everyone.

Good Appearance Makes For Success in Life

BY ANGELO PATRI
"I think that Marcia would be splendid as the Queen."
"But Miss Grace, Helen is not as— She hasn't the presence of Marcia, if you know what I mean."

"Yes, Miss Lora, I knew exactly what you mean." Miss Grace was very definite about it. "What I mean is that Marcia is too untidy to be trusted with the leading part in a play that is to represent the English department at its best."

"Well, I don't know—"
"But I do. I don't want a Queen who will come on the stage hauling up her garter or hunching up her shoulder-straps, with maybe a hole in the heel of her stocking. I'd much prefer one who may have less presence, as you call it, and more dignity. A girl who can't take time to sew on a shoulder strap—well, she won't do. We'll take Helen."

Mending one's clothes used to be a duty. Any neglect of it was noted, and the untidy one was marked as being no better than she ought to be. In these days when stockings and underthings have become so wacky and so cheap mending has been slighted.

"They're so cheap it doesn't pay to mend them," and the stockings that go into the basket.

Shoulder-straps that should be firmly in place come slipping down the arm. The fastenings have not been mended. Buttons fly off with a speed and finality that is startling. "They were on with just one thread," says the happy-go-lucky owner. "I don't know where they went. What of it? Who worries about a button?"

The Miss Graces, and the Mr. Office Managers, and the Experienced Head of Personnel, they note the absence of the trim and tidy look that expresses the trained and disciplined personality. And that, my

Give Coed Cosmetic Wardrobe

BY ELISE PIERCE

BY the time she is ready for her college commencement exercises the lovely lady is ready for a free fling in the realm of beauty. To be sure she does not, as yet, need chin straps or astringent preparations but one can run the whole gamut of gifts the beauty mart offers in choosing for the college graduate.

At twenty or twenty-one humilating blunders are usually a thing of the past. The occasional blemish is not unusual for any of us and a spot stick which works like a lip-stick, is a fine thing to have handy by way of concealing the hateful spot. If it is more serious than that, it needs the same scientific care as does the adolescent skin which we discussed yesterday.

Remember that as an elementary school graduate she was initiated into a few little luxuries that would encourage cleanliness such as her own towels, wash cloths, bath brush, soap, bath dusting powder or talcum. To these a deodorant should be added when she is about high school age or a little older; certainly she should have among her daily essentials a deodorant or non-perfumed when she is leaving college. To these cleanliness aids may be added a few actual luxuries in the form of eau de cologne, a powder or perfume spray, bath salts, anything to make the cleanliness rite which has become such a delightful habit, a little more luxurious, a little more the beauty ritual.

Wardrobes of Perfumes or Cosmetics
Cosmetic wardrobes have become very popular. Several sets of rouge, powder, lipstick, eye-shadow, mascara and so on—to harmonize with various costume shades. For those who can afford it, this makes a very luxurious gift indeed and I can't imagine any college woman not "adoring" it.

Perfume wardrobes ditto—a few different moods or costumes or for no other reason than she loves lovely things.

Again we go back to essentials: as a young girl she was permitted a manicure kit consisting of emory board, orangewood stick, oil, nail brush. Add cuticle scissors to these (when the scissors are absolutely necessary it is permissible—as in the case of a hangnail, for instance); several shades of nail polish and nail polish remover. A hand lotion is something I would give every graduate from elementary school to college.

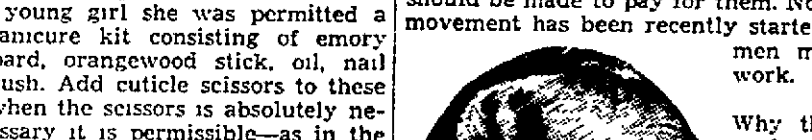

Sachets are delightful—all shapes, sizes, as fancy and frivolous as you please. And sets of boxes, suggested as a gift for the bride, but just as appropriate for the graduate, to encourage a neat array of gloves, underwear, handkerchiefs, sewing articles. The new see-through boxes are charming as well as useful. Yes, there's a world of beauty open to the college graduate.

Prejudice Against Bachelors Continues

BY DOROTHY DIX

In many of our states bachelors are heavily taxed for the privilege of remaining single, perhaps on the theory that those who enjoy luxuries should be made to pay for them. Now some seem likely to follow for a movement has been recently started to force employers to pay married men more than single men for the same work.

Why this unjust discrimination should be made against the poor bachelor, and why all married people should be taxed against him to deprive him of his freedom and take all the joy out of his single blessedness, is hard to explain. Perhaps it is pure envy on the part of men, and having themselves been trapped and housebroken, they cannot bear to see a brother free and untrammelled roaming the wild.

Perhaps it is because women have a sex loyalty that makes them look upon a bachelor as an enemy who has somehow, some way, by arts and wiles and superior cleverness, done some woman out of a husband, and who wickedly and selfishly spends upon himself and his own clothes and pleasure the money that should have gone to buying a wife Paris finery and sessions at the beauty shops and daddies for little Juniors.

Whatever the reason, the prejudice exists. Every man's and woman's hand is against them, and every means, fair and foul, is used to drive them to the altar. Sisters they trust to betray them by hurling fraternal widows and old school friends at them on weekends. Men they have befriended pull beautiful and glamorous nieces, cousins and debutante sisters out of where at their approach as bachelors to his liberty with a death grip change their attack upon him from his heart to his pocketbook.

It is, of course, envy that makes these bounds upon the domestic wheel feel that the bachelor has got too soft a path in life and fills them with a desire to scatter a few tacks in it. They picture him as a carefree individual who has no wife with a questionnaire on the tip of her tongue awaiting his return home. They think how delightful it would be to be able to purchase that tricky fishing reel they have been looking at covetously in the show-window instead of having to pay an installment on having little Johnny's adorns out.

They think how blissful it must be to be able to come and go as one pleases without having to furnish an alibi for every instance one was away from the Presence. In short, they think of the bachelor's life much as a prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence thinks of the great wide spaces where one is free to follow one's bent.

But, alas, this impressionistic and somewhat lurid picture of a bachelor's existence is seldom true to nature except in spots. The single man, even as you and I who are married, has his troubles and tribulations. His burdens and his parasites without setting the reward that the domestic man frequently does.

To begin with, the bachelor is a man without a stand-in. He has no rood, reliable, negotiable excuse in the shape of a wife that is accepted at its face value the world over. He has nobody to tell his white lies for him and keep him from having to go to dull parties and to dinners where the food is a crime and the drinks are a sin.

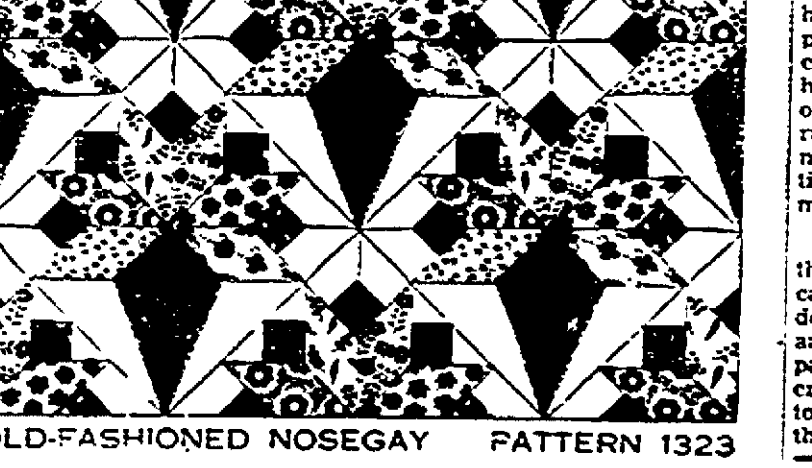

There are no feminine shields behind which he can hide. He has to stand and take it on his defenseless head without having any one on whom to lay the blame of all his faults and mistakes. And that alone drives widowers, who have been deprived of the protection of a wife, into marrying again.

Nor does the bachelor who has neither a wife nor child nor child of his own get out of having to support a family. His brothers and sisters cheerfully pass the bulk of their own to him and let George do it. Because brother has no dear little daughter nor wonderful son of his own, sister thinks that he should pay for Sally's debut and Marie's dancing lessons and give Maud a trip to Europe. Brother is sure that he will feel it a privilege to send Robert to Harvard and provide him with a sport car and enough money to make a splurge.

Furthermore, the bachelor is held up by every racketeering philanthropy on the face of the earth. Because he hasn't a family he is expected to give and give, not only until it hurts but also bankrupts him, and then he is baited for not giving more. The stinky old tightwad, with nobody to spend his money on!

And what the bachelors suffer at the hands of hostesses no tongue can tell, but it should be written down in the Book of Martyrs. They are expected to fill in at stodgy parties; to dance with fat wallflowers; to make themselves agreeable to dumb dowagers; and to spend their time and money showing

TEMPTING GARDEN-GAY SCRAP QUILT

Old-Fashioned Nosesays as these will be the pride of the modern quilter. Not only are they easy-to-piece, but they lend color and animation to the loveliest quilt ever! Piece your scraps in "repeat" order, or make each noseay resemble a different bouquet. It's fun, and the blocks fairly fly! Pattern 1323 contains complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed use, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (not preferred) for this pattern to the Appleton Post-Crescent, Needlecraft Dept., 62 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

TABLE RULES

Dear Mrs. Post: When soup is served in individual covered earthenware pots, what is one supposed to do with the cover?

Answer: You take off the cover and wedge it between the cup and saucer or plate that the pot stands on. I used the phrase "wedge it" rather than "lay it" because the saucer is apt to be narrow and the point to be made is that its steam must drip on the saucer and not on the table.

Dear Mrs. Post: Only when I was in New York I went to a store noted for selling fine linens and was told there that if a doily set was beautiful enough it could be used for important dinners instead of tablecloths. We don't have really formal dinners but we have a wait-ress and a cook and our guests come in dinner clothes. There is such a difference of opinion here at home among my friends about this change to place doilies that I'd like to have your opinion.

Answer: At the nicest evening meals possible to give, and in this category I also include the most fashionable, doilies are used. These doilies permit butter plates and cream soup cups and the very macular of today (the meal is more often than not called "dinner"). It can not possibly be called a formal dinner with any of the three appointments that I have just named.

On the other hand, a dinner party is, accurately speaking, formal in about one case in a thousand, so I wouldn't worry about the word formal if I were you.

Dear Mrs. Post: I've always taken it for granted that candles should not be used on a lunch table, whether they are burned or not. A friend tells me they were recently in answer to a letter that if the room was dark enough so that artificial lighting was necessary they could be included on the lunch table. Is this true and if so, do you mean that it is good taste to draw the curtains and make the room dark enough to make candlelight necessary? I don't believe you mean that at all, but she insists.

Answer: I meant that if one's dining room opens on a court or narrow yard and has no light (which in the country wouldn't be likely) candles are used at lunch when they are necessary. On the other hand, if the room has an overhead chandelier or indirect lighting which sufficiently lights the table, it would be better to omit the candles.

Old Gardener Says:

BY E. I. FARRINGTON

Tonatoes need an extra supply of nitrogen just as the first clusters begin to set. The nitrogen should be from some readily available source, such as sodium nitrate or ammonium sulphate. Even if liberal applications of fertilizers have been made at planting time, a side dressing as the fruits begin to set will increase the yield. It is important that the fertilizer be kept away from the plants, as contact with them will result in severe burning and may even kill the vines. If possible, the material should be mixed with the soil around the plant. A second side dressing, just as the tonatoes begin to color, will also give good results.

Crop Rotation Is Help in Contrfol Of Plant Disease

Infection Increases Year By Year Unless Changes are Made

Crop rotation is not only a simple way to keep plant diseases under control but one of the best, crop specialists of the federal department of agriculture state in a report received at the office of R. C. Swanson, county agent.

Rotating a wilt resistant variety of flax with small grains and corn is one example. Flax, although grown like a small grain crop, belongs to a family of plants widely separated from the grass family to which wheat, oats, barley, rye and corn belong, and is not attacked by the same diseases that injure grains. Flax has its own diseases such as rust, wilt and leaf spot, but these in turn do not attack small grains. A variety of flax susceptible to wilt, however, must be grown on clean land, as ordinary rotations do not destroy the wilt organism in flax-sick soil.

Grain Is Used

Many diseases of cotton are checked by growing other crops. In cotton fields in Texas, where root rot is serious, losses may be reduced by rotating with grain crops and by deep tillage. Cotton wilt is one disease, however, which has not been successfully checked by changing crops, though rotation with soil building crops is an important supplemental factor in decreasing wilt damage and increasing yields. Wilt has been found in cotton in a field that had not been in cotton for several years.

Root knot of tobacco is checked by rotating with peanuts, crotalaria, oats or a natural weed fallow. Granville wilt of tobacco is controlled by growing corn, cotton, or sweet potatoes. Department men have found that a 4-year rotation with ordinary field crops checks black shank of tobacco in western North Carolina. This rotation does not work in Florida, however.

Disease specialists say that the very simplicity of rotations often cause them to be overlooked as a method of checking plant disease. Many farmers keep on with a particular crop, the infection increasing year by year.

Nixon Is Director of Badger Underwriters

Madison—(T)—E. G. MacDonald, Sheboygan, was elected president of the Wisconsin Association of Life Underwriters Thursday as 50 insurance men from six cities met in first annual convention.

Other officers named were M. E. Matteson, Green Bay, second vice president; Alvin Moser, treasurer; and Clyde S. Coffel, secretary, both of Milwaukee.

Elected to the board of directors were M. F. Heilig, H. B. Wells, J. N. Patterson, H. R. Buckman and A. M. Mendel, all of Milwaukee; J. F. Hunkes, E. E. Trowbridge and J. Curtis Sell, all of Sheboygan, and George Nixon, Appleton.

58,707 Persons Get Social Security Aid

Madison—(T)—George M. Keith, director of the state pension department, said today the 71 counties distributed $1,022,952 for social security aids to 58,707 persons during May.

The $42,995 apportioned to 1,982 blind persons was the smallest monthly sum since the department was created in 1935, Keith said. The number of blind persons on the rolls is declining gradually.

Other group allotments were: $696,873 to 35,936 old age pensioners; $283,114 to 20,789 dependent children.

ARTHRITIS Can Be Curbed

Don't "give up" when you learn that those painful, stiff, aching, swollen joints are the outbreak of dreadful Arthritis. Arthritis has been curbed, not once but thousands of times, before it reached the final, awful stages of crippling deformity or horrible agony.

Before resorting to painful or drastic means, why not give Genuine RO-MARI a chance?

Genuine RO-MARI
(from the United Kingdom)

RO-MARI, being highly alkaline, strikes at the CAUSE of Arthritis, Sciatica, Neuritis, Lumbago, Gout and allied painful ailments when caused by excess acids. It contains no narcotics, opiates or alcohol.

RO-MARI is compounded in the laboratories of its discoverer in Belfast, Ireland, and has been used with success in countless cases. It is enthusiastically recommended by such leading citizens as Mr. Lionel Barrymore, Mr. Huey Walpole, the Hon. Mr. A. Otero, long Governor of New Mexico, and hundreds in all walks of life in America and England.

Begin NOW—TODAY—to combat a condition which, if unattended, may lead to permanent invalidism.

WPA Workers Modernize Records in 10 Counties

A total of 2,536,850 public documents have been reviewed by WPA workers on clerical projects for the correction and modernization of records in the 10 counties of WPA district No. 2, Mark Muth, Green Bay, district director, said today.

Records projects have been operating under the sponsorship of 34 departmental units of local governments in Marinette, Oconto, Shawano, Outagamie, Winnebago, Brown, Calumet, Manitowoc, Kewaunee and Door Counties, which comprise the district.

The work on clerical projects, which have furnished employment for 507 WPA workers in the district, has included correcting real estate property descriptions on assessment rolls, installing filing systems, codifying ordinances, revising election records, correcting and indexing records of birth, death, marriage, wills, incorporations, bankruptcy and mortgages.

"The haphazard manner in which public records have been kept in the past, due largely to the short tenure of county officers and the lack of skilled helpers, has resulted in a chaotic condition which is costly to the government and to the citizens," Mr. Muth said.

In County Since 1935

Since December 4, 1935, 25 WPA workers have been correcting and revising tax records in Outagamie county. It was found that 25 per cent of the descriptions were incorrect throughout the county, while in some towns, 80 per cent of the descriptions needed correction. In the village of Black Creek, 15 parcels of land were found omitted from the tax roll. In the village of Shiocton, about 50 cases were recorded where property owners had extended lines into the street from 5 to 25 feet, and several buildings were located on street property.

During the past 12 months, WPA workers have checked 125,000 deeds and 50,000 property descriptions in Winnebago county. More than 4,000 errors were recorded, and 1400 acres of land have been added to tax rolls. In one township, 43 out of 44 land descriptions were found incorrect. 125 acres of unclaimed land were recorded, and it was found that three persons were paying taxes on one parcel of land.

Hundreds of old recordings were found, such as one deed drawn up in 1888 which identified the property as running from a burr oak tree 24 inches in diameter, to another burr oak tree 30 inches in diameter. The burr oak trees have long since been cut down or increased in diameter, but the deed was so recorded in the files.

Winnebago county will install addressograph equipment and full time employees to continue the filing and recording systems instituted by the WPA workers.

Propose Measure On Dairy Imports

Sauthoff Would Confine Shipments to Products Of Disease Free Herds

Washington—(T)—House agriculture committee received Thursday a bill by congressman Harry Sauthoff of Madison, designed to protect American dairy farmers from what he terms "unfair competition from abroad."

The measure would require that all dairy products imported into this country come from herds free from bovine tuberculosis or under test for bovine tuberculosis.

Available information, Sauthoff said, shows no country in the world except the United States had taken "any substantial steps to eliminate this disease from dairy cattle."

Sauthoff said he believed this requirement would reduce the volume of dairy imports.

Last year, Sauthoff said, the United States imported 60,000,000 pounds of cheese, about 11,000,000 pounds more than in 1935. Exports in 1936, he added, were 1,136,208 pounds of cheese.

"If the present rate of increase is maintained," he said, "then the dairy farmers of Wisconsin will be in a very difficult financial position two or three years from now, because the price of feed has gone up 100 per cent within the last few years, and the price of farm machinery is steadily rising. Some protection must be provided."

Elect Milwaukee Man President of Cemetery Group

Frank B. Groh, Appleton, Re-elected Secretary-Treasurer

Walter Buege, Milwaukee, was elected president of the Association of Wisconsin Cemetery Superintendents and Officials at the morning session of the state convention at Hotel Northern today. He succeeds Mrs. Ruby Radcliffe, Eagle River. Andrew J. Nelson, Racine, was elected vice president to succeed Mr. Buege. Frank B. Groh, Appleton, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Radcliffe was named a member of the executive committee to succeed Edward Pasewalk, Manitowish. Other members of the committee are Earl Ballard, Appleton, and Herbert Gausewitz, Milwaukee. The committee soon will select the convention city for next year.

Paul Daggett, trustee of AACS and of secretary of the Calvary cemetery, St. Paul, Minn., this morning discussed "The Necessity of Establishing a Perpetual Care Fund for Small Cemeteries." The convention will close this afternoon after Les Meyers, Green Bay, delivers a talk on "Social Security and Unemployment Insurance."

Thursday Session
At the opening session Thursday afternoon at the chapel in the Riverside cemetery, members considered routine business and heard short talks by Gustave Keller, Appleton, Mayor John Goodland, Appleton, Mrs. Ruby Radcliffe, Eagle River, and Frank B. Groh, Appleton.

Mr. Keller complimented association members for improving cemeteries and urged them to continue convention sessions where all problems can be discussed. The meetings prove an inspiration to many members and result in better cooperation between all superintendents and officials, he said.

The public should be interested in cemetery improvements because it is a place which all may visit, he said. Older people usually go to cemeteries to recapture some of the sweet sentiments of their youth.

Consider the graves as a gateway to the hereafter, the speaker said. Mayor John Goodland in the opening convention address asked members to enjoy themselves while in Appleton. He spoke about the second annual meeting which was held in Appleton about 10 years ago and urged members to continue holding conventions.

Urges Campaign
A campaign to get small community cemetery superintendents to join the state association was urged by Mrs. Radcliffe in her address. She said that all problems were considered at the state conventions and that these are of interest to all cemetery workers.

Discussions are being held on the vital factors in the cemetery superintendent's convention meetings, she said. Because there are no schools which hold courses in cemetery work, all officials and superintendents must learn through actual experience, she stated.

Bills which have been considered by the state legislature were explained by members of the legislative committee. The proposals include an allowance for perpetual care of a grave as part of the funeral expenses in all cases except those in which the allowance would materially affect widows and minor children; associations may invest funds for perpetual care through the state annuity board; and a joint resolution passed by the legislature asking congress to include cemetery improvements under WPA projects.

The nominating committee appointed to select new state officers includes John Forrer, Milwaukee; E. R. Kreutzer, Oshkosh; and J. E. Ballard, Appleton.

DEATHS

CHARLES BEEBE
Charles Beebe, 71, died at 11:25 this morning at his home at 723 Quist street, Kaukauna, after an illness of several weeks. Born in Ohio, Mr. Beebe came to Kaukauna in 1909 and had lived there since that time. Mr. Beebe was a millwright and also had served as tender at the Lake street bridge in Kaukauna. He was a member of Brookway Methodist Lutheran church, the Odd Fellows and the Local Order of Moose.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters, Mrs. William Staley, Aurora, Ill.; Miss Quanine Zilles, Kaukauna; one son, Charles Frank Beebe, Deacons Grove, Ill.; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Ralph Madison Admitted
To U. S. Naval Academy
Dr. and Mrs. William Madison, 228 Durkee street, have received word that their son, Ralph, has been accepted as a midshipman at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. He left Sunday for Annapolis and was sworn in yesterday. He studied at the University of Wisconsin for a year and a half, and received his appointment to the academy from Congressman George J. Schneider in February.

Local Firm Completes Electrical Project
The Art-Killgren Electric company has completed work on the rural electrification administration project in Douglas county, near Superior. The project consisted of building about 100 miles of transmission line which will furnish 355 farmers with electricity. Work on the $100,000 contract started Dec. 1, 1935, with laborers from the Douglas county area and on relief rolls being employed.

NAMED ON LABOR MEDIATION BOARD

These three men were named by Secretary Perkins as a board to mediate the steel strike. They are, left to right, Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school, and Charles P. Taft of Ohio. Mr. Taft, who was named chairman, called the first meeting of the board Saturday at Cleveland. There was no indication, however, that either the steel companies or C.I.O. would ask the board to arbitrate.

Cashman Rakes Lawmakers on School Problem

Help Rural Units. Forget University, He Tells Senate

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—The legislature would better employ its time by devoting some attention to "the proper operation of the 6,000 or more rural schools in Wisconsin" instead of "wasting time on the university," Senator John E. Cashman, insurgent Democrat Progressive, advised his state senate colleagues Thursday during a debate on a bill which would have reorganized the membership of the board of regents of the state university to give Wisconsin farmers more representation.

Introduced by Senator Earl Leverich, (P), Sparta, prominent farm leader, the measure was killed after a voice vote yesterday after days of wrangling debate. Leverich proposed to increase the number of farmers on the university board from two to five and would have removed the university president from membership on the board. The farmers would have formed an advisory committee to the college of agriculture.

"Let the governor appoint members of the board of regents who will not be 'yes' men," he thundered, "but let us make the rural schools competent."

"In Wisconsin we have 46,000 farm boys and an equal number of girls between the ages of 14 and 20 who are out of school forever and who are rapidly drifting into illiteracy. While that condition exists we have something more serious to talk about than how to run the university."

The numerical representation of agriculture on the university board will make little difference if the representatives are "true representatives of the farmer," he said. But at present, he charged, "the real enemies of the Wisconsin farmer are the farm and labor representatives on the board. They are 'yes' men, no credit to anyone."

As he asked the presiding officer for additional time to discuss the resolution passed by the legislature when Appleton and Milwaukee labor union representatives on the board of regents "sat on that board and voted to let a $500,000 university building contract to a 'seab' contractor'."

"Now they come down here every six weeks, vote 'yes' to everything, and don't know what it's about," he continued, adding that the executive of the college of agriculture, Dean Chris L. Christensen, is powerless to act without the permission of the university president.

When Senator Joseph Clancy asked Senator Leverich for a definition of the "practical" farmers he wishes placed on the board, Leverich declined to reply, and Cashman declared an impromptu definition as follows: "an impractical farmer is one who attends to everyone's business except his own, and a practical farmer is one who watches not only his own farm but all the factors affecting it, such as prices, prosperity and such things."

J. C. C. Officers Will be Elected at Meet Monday

The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet Monday afternoon to elect officers for the coming year. The directors held a short meeting yesterday at the Metropolitan Cafe in Hotel Appleton but adjourned before electing the new officers. The directors include George Howden, Wilmer Slach, Harry Hoeftel, H. K. Derrus, J. L. Davis, Jr., Glenn Arthur, Fred Roughton, E. H. Kirk and C. D. Fox.

Two Drivers Pay Fines On Charges of Speeding

A truck driver and a cab driver pleaded guilty of speeding when they appeared in municipal court Thursday afternoon and each was fined $10 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan. Joseph Marshall, 1209 N. Division street, truck driver, was fined going 35 miles an hour on W. Wisconsin avenue and Ray Martin, 111 E. Fremont street, cab driver, was charged with violating the speed law on W. Prospect avenue.

Census Bureau Closes Philadelphia Office

With the completion of its current business census project, covering business operations for 1935, the bureau of census of the Department of Commerce has closed its temporary branch in Philadelphia and is moving back to Washington, D. C., according to word received at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. The Philadelphia branch was established for the express purpose of conducting the nation-wide census of business under the direction of Fred A. Gonnell, chief statistician for business.

The Appleton chamber was thanked for its cooperation in aiding in the census. The census of business received and tabulated a total of 3,000,000 schedules on all phases of business. It was the third business census, others being made in 1925 and 1933.

Club Liquor License Bill Given Approval

Madison—(AP)—Miscellaneous actions taken by the legislature today: Passed by both houses: Grosvonts bill permitting municipalities to grant liquor licenses to clubs and lodges at less than the minimum fee prescribed by law.

Blomquist bill requiring public liability insurance on school buses.

Assembly bill permitting municipalities to levy one-tenth of 1 per cent of the assessed valuation for advertising and development of natural resources.

Killed by the senate: Nehs bill to repeal restrictions on blueberry picking.

Hall bill which would have removed the University of Wisconsin president from the board of regents, of which he is an ex-officio member.

It Is Said--

That a merchant on College avenue uses a novel method to hold his parking place on the street and yet escape the arm of the law. When his time limit is almost up he has his delivery truck taken around in the front of his establishment and run into the parking place while the proprietor's car is driven around the block. The car is then returned to the parking place for another two hours.

12-Year-Old Boy Drowns in Pond When Skiff Sinks

Recover Body of Charles Irlbeck, Weyauwega, Early Today

Weyauwega—Plunged into the water when an old skiff sank beneath him, 12-year-old Charles Irlbeck apparently became frightened, swam away from a rescuer and drowned in the Weyauwega mill pond about 3:10 Thursday afternoon.

Charles and a play-mate, Lorrin Spence, 12, had been swimming but were playing ball on the shore opposite the bathing beach when the ball eluded one of them and went into the water. Entering the skiff, which the boys had salvaged but had been forbidden to use until it was repaired, Charles attempted to retrieve the ball, according to reports.

William Fischer, 18, saw the boy in the water and swam to the rescue. He called to Charles repeatedly but the boy continued to swim away from him. Charles sank once and came back to the surface, then went down again before Fischer could reach him and did not appear.

Begin Search
All available boats were pressed into service in a search for the body under the direction of Sheriff Duncan Campbell but it was not located until about 5:30 this morning.

Dams were closed at Waupaca yesterday and opened at Weyauwega with a screen at the Weyauwega dam to catch the body if it went that far. A plane piloted by Elwyn West, manager of the Outagamie county airport flew over the pond but the water was too badly riled for good visibility.

The quest was suspended late last night, but was resumed at dawn today with claim fishermen from Fremont assisting. Cyril Looker, Fremont, using a clam bar, located the body.

Charles is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Irlbeck, Weyauwega, two brothers, Robert, 13, Eugene, 9, and one sister, Caroline, 5.

Arraign Shiocton Man On Fish Law Charges

Joseph Troiber, Shiocton, pleaded guilty to two counts of fish law violation, operation of a snag line, and operation of an unlicensed set line when he was arraigned in the municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan Thursday afternoon. He was fined $100 and costs with an alternative of 6 months in the detention camp on the first count and $50 and costs on the second, but the $100 fine was remitted. The arrest was made in the town of Bovina by Conservation Warden George Whalen, Appleton.

Public Works Board Inspects Lutz Park

Colonel W. H. Holcomb, Milwaukee, district engineer of the United States War department, met with members of the board of public works yesterday afternoon and inspected Lutz park where it is proposed to develop a bathing beach. The board also inspected sidewalks on College avenue and adjourned until 2:30 this afternoon.

Personals

Homer L. Gebhardt, Y. M. C. A. secretary, left yesterday for Racine where he will attend a celebration planned in connection with the burning of the mortgage on the Racine Y. M. C. A. While at Racine, Mr. Gebhardt also will visit with his parents.

Mrs. Joe Treiber, 1000 W. Winnebago street, had returned home from St. Elizabeth hospital after an operation.

FINED $5 AND COSTS
A plea of guilty to a charge of failure to stop for an arterial in the town of Grand Chute was entered for William Wolf, Fremont, in municipal court here Thursday afternoon when a fine of $5 and costs was assessed by Judge Thomas H. Ryan. C. H. Peters appeared for Wolf.

Mack Opposes New License Bill

Shiocton Senator Against Regulating Portable Mill Operators

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—A protest against passage of a bill providing for the regulation and licensing of operators of portable feed grinding mills, originated by Charles Fleescer of Shawano and signed by 53 other resident farmers of Shawano county was introduced in the Wisconsin senate by Senator Mike Mack, (R), Shiocton, Thursday.

The measure proposes control of feed grinding operators who travel from farm to farm by the state industrial commission and considerable farmer opposition has been organized against it.

The bill is estimated to "eliminate free competition" and to make it "harder and more expensive for us to have our feed and roughage ground right on our farms," the farmers wrote. "It is an indirect tax on farmers already over burdened by taxation to the point of bankruptcy," they said.

Increase Capital of Appleton Supply Firm

An amendment to the articles of incorporation of the Appleton Supply company, increasing the capital stock from $30,000 to $75,000, was filed today at the office of A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds. The amendment provides for 750 shares of stock at par value of $100 per share. It is signed by Emil J. Belling, president, and Frank E. Gabriel, secretary.

Price Fixing Is Unworkable, Keefe Tells Committee

Oshkosh Attorney Opposes "Teeth" in Trade Practice Code

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Arbitrary fixing of commodity prices in trade practice codes is "un-American, unworkable and will never succeed," Frank Keefe, Oshkosh, former Winnebago county district attorney and Sixth district Republican candidate for congress, declared before the assembly judiciary committee Wednesday.

Keefe appeared before the committee holding the third public hearing on the revised fair trade practices bill, which would put "teeth" into the regulation of code industries in Wisconsin.

Keefe, leader of the opposition forces at the hearing, told a room crowded with business men and tradesmen that codes which fix prices are unwise of supernumeraries to enforce the code. On what sort of sea are we embarking? Every business transaction will have to bear the scrutiny of investigators and inspectors of the trade practices commission, and we'll get into a condition of absolute and utter chaos," he declared.

Rebelling that he had been "hooted and jeered" for his opposition at an earlier hearing, Keefe warned that opponents may carry their opposition to the courts.

"Labor gets nothing out of these fair trade codes," he continued. "The code of the retail auto dealers provided for 40 cents an hour, which no labor union in the state would accept as a basic wage."

Keefe concluded with an admission that codes for the service industries, where the cost of the services represents essentially a labor cost, may be workable. But price fixing of commodities is impossible, he reiterated.

Pleads Not Guilty to Food Display Charges

John L. Alpert, 103 N. Durkee street, operator of a food market, pleaded not guilty to two charges of displaying uncovered foodstuffs when he appeared in municipal court Thursday afternoon and was released on $500 bond pending trial June 23.

Arrested on complaint of Dr. J. C. Troxel, city physician and health officer, Alpert is charged under a city ordinance with display of cookies not under cover and under state regulations with displaying uncovered vegetables out of doors.

Mr. Roosevelt's Fiasco

The report of the senate committee does more than state with devastating logic and moral passion the reasons why the judiciary bill should not pass. It goes further and calls upon the senate to establish a precedent sufficiently impressive to discourage any one else in the future from attempting to make the judiciary subservient to the congress or the executive. "It is a measure," says the report, "which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

Thus the majority of the committee ask the senate to do more than to put the bill aside. They ask for a rejection, so emphatic, so plain to every one, that this attempt to subvert the independence of the courts will have been turned into a decisive affirmation of their independence. They ask for a rejection which will remove the idea, entertained by some, that under the constitution the congress has a kind of implied right to pack the court.

This is high ground. But no senator who takes it will ever be sorry that he took it. None will ever regret that he has been numbered among those who defended triumphantly the essential principle of the American government—that all men, all officials, all agencies of government are under the law and that, subject to the inalienable right of the sovereign people to amend the law, the law at any moment is what independent judges say it is.

Standing on this ground, they will be standing where the liberators of mankind have stood for three hundred years. They will be in good company, and they need have no qualms. For while there are sincere and earnest men who believe in this bill, they have been met in open debate, and so completely has the case for the bill been shattered that its nominal sponsors have been reduced to silence. The president's supporters who voted for the bill have not even ventured to turn in a report, rebutting the report of the majority.

Administration Has Suffered Severe Blow

No doubt the outcome is a shock to the administration. To have staked so much on such a daring gamble, and to have lost, is a serious blow to its prestige. The real question for the president is whether he wishes to repair his position or to make a bad situation worse.

If he drives ahead he will make it worse. For the men who have taken their stand against him on this issue have burned their bridges, and they know it. They realize quite well that if the president does not accept his defeat on this measure, there is between him and them a political war to the death.

They comprise the ablest progressives and the ablest conservatives among the Democrats in the senate, whereas the few really able senators supporting the president are manifestly sick at heart. So obviously is this the case that at the climax of the struggle, when every vote is needed and every ounce of influence, the vice president of the United States has left the field of battle and has gone to Texas to catch fish. If not even Mr. Garner will stay in Washington to fight for this bill, what must be the state of mind of the president's nominal supporters?

If the president is wise he will take his losses and quit. He will ask congress to pass only the most necessary measures at this session, and he will then allow it to adjourn to catch its breath, to take a rest, to enable every one to recover his poise and his good temper.

Too Complicated For Ordinary Brain

The government of the United States, with such incredible power concentrated in the president, has become too complicated for an ordinary human brain. Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers have no more than ordinary human brains, and it has become impossible for them to understand all the questions they have undertaken to deal with. They are at the point where they haven't the time or the energy to deal with their problems.

They need a rest and they need a pause. If they do not take a rest, if they just plow ahead asking for new powers to deal with more and more problems, they will, because human nature cannot stand the pace, make one ghastly error after another.

The fiasco of the judiciary bill is due at bottom, not to some conscious sinister design, but to the sheer fact that Mr. Roosevelt thought it was a good idea, and never had the time or the energy to take the trouble to study it or to ask the advice of competent men. Nobody can make decisions as momentous as this in odd moments amidst a thousand distractions. And if there is anybody left who is a good enough friend of the president to tell him the truth, he will tell him now that the real lesson of the judiciary bill is that no mortal man can chew what the president has bitten off.

If Franklin Roosevelt's good angel would grant him a little humility, it would help him more than anything else.

Red Cross Will Combat Injuries

County Chapter to Distribute Hazard Inspection Forms

The American Red Cross in a bulletin to the Outagamie chapter reports that 1,725 chapters throughout the nation are now actively engaged in combating fatalities and injuries resulting from accidents in the home and on the farm.

This summer the national Red Cross will furnish approximately 7,000,000 inspection forms to chapters which will in turn distribute the forms to householders through children in urban and rural schools. The inspection forms tell specifically what hazards to look for and how to eliminate them when found.

"It is heartening that our activities along this line last year awakened so widespread and cooperative an interest," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, said. He pointed out that inspection forms and educational material would go this year to nearly 2,000 communities where citizens had indicated realization of the need for decisive action.

During 1936 home accidents claimed a new high of 39,000 lives, 500 more than were killed on the highway. The Red Cross initiated its home and farm accident prevention program two years ago when it became apparent that the death rate from this type of accident would in all probability eclipse the motor vehicle fatality count in the near future.

Rocks composing the earth's crust are grouped by geologists into three main classes—igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — As a full-fledged movie producer William Anthony McGuire has little time to write. But he has time to talk about writers.

"I'll say hello to a good producer," he says. "I'll salame to a good writer."

McGuire did that scrip on "The Great Ziegfeld" which won academy awards for a lot of people but not McGuire. He wasn't talking about this—he doesn't give a hoot—when he said that a script was at least 80 per cent of a picture's success. He says the same thing about "The Girl Of The Golden West," his first venture as a producer, and he isn't writing the "Girl" script.

Credit Writers

He says he took the producer assignment just as a means to keep busy—and more prosperous, perhaps—and get ahead in the picture business as long as he was in it. Producing is no novelty to him, what with his stage shows and all. But my private opinion is he took the job just so he could give credit to writers, something he couldn't do when he was just a scribe.

The big problem on "Girl Of The Golden West" seems to be working up some interest in the hero. In the stage play you forgot about all the characters except Jack Rance and the girl. That was true when Ann Harding and Harry Bannister made a talkie of it—with results that verged on burlesque.

This time, for a Jeanette MacDonald musical, they're going to try to keep the dramatic hinges from creaking by striving for a "poetic feeling." McGuire hasn't decided yet how this will be attained—but he knows it will be in the script if anywhere.

The Life Of Tarzan

Poor Glenn Morris has his life all mapped out for him since he became the screen's Tarzan. He can't be photographed—unless some candid camera sneaks up on him unawares—except in his loopy, arid skin loincloth. He can't get a haircut. He must work out at least two hours daily. He has to get a bronze sunburn, and keep it. And he can't get himself mixed up in politics. At last reports his right to dunk his doughnuts was still his own, but that was about all.

Marion Mieke Named as Willard School Teacher

Dundas—Marion Mieke, who for the last four years has been teaching at the Hudson school, route 1, Hilbert, has been engaged for the coming term at the Willard school, one mile west of Dundas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Biermann and son, Raymond, and Mrs. E. Young of Detroit arrived here Friday for a visit with friends. They will also attend the marriage of Martha Wymelberg to George Victor Cleary at St. Paul's church, Combined Locks, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Coonen and Mr. and Mrs. James Coonen were callers at Appleton Thursday where they visited with Mrs. Mary Vander Heiden, who is a patient at St. Elizabeth hospital. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Deelen.

Equalization Board to Hold Annual Session

The board of equalization will meet in the council chambers on Tuesday, July 6, and will be in session for two weeks, according to Carl Beecher, city clerk. Hearing and adjustments of taxpayers' complaints pertaining to the 1936 assessment will be the business before the board.

Menasha Library Making Room for 800 New Volumes

Periodicals Being Moved To Basement; Move Other Books

Menasha — Periodicals owned by the Elisha D. Smith library have been moved to a room on the basement floor to make room for 800 new volumes on literature, according to Miss Daisy Trilling, librarian. Included in the shipment are volumes on French, English, Latin, Spanish and German literature. To make room for the unusual number of additional books, 16,000 books now on the shelves had to be moved to different locations.

Other new books which have been received at the library include one called "Modern Tennis," by Helen Willis Jacobs. This literary effort should be of some interest to those who are interested in the game. Two volumes on city planning and another on garden rubbish have also been received in addition to many new books of fiction.

Included in the list of volumes of fiction are: "Think Fast Mr. Moto," by John P. Marquand; "The Pattern," by Mignon G. Eberhart; "Dark World and Wide," by C. Lee Wilson; "The Best Short Stories of 1937," by Edward J. O'Brien; "The Heels of the Gale," by Capt. George H. Grant; "The Shortest Street," by Jean Randall.

"Paris," by Mona Clarke; "Northwest Passage," by Kenneth Roberts; "London," by E. O. Hoppe; "Venice," by Pompeo Molmenti; "Rome," by Gabriel Fourie; "The Radio Studio Murder," by Carolyn Wells; "Grey of Fallondon," by George Macaulay Trevelyan; "The Red Box," by Rex Stout.

"Spelling Bees," by Albert Deane; "The League in Trial," by Max Beer (non-fiction); "Caravans and Conservation," by Richard Curle (non-fiction); "High Stakes and Hair Trigger," the life of Jefferson Davis, by Robert W. Winston; "The Actor's Heritage," by Walter Prichard Eaton; "Napoleon," a biography, by Winifred Ray.

"Thou Shalt Not Love," by A. Sioux Scarberry; "Florence," by Pierre Gauthier; "Switzerland: North and South," by Paul Guidon; "The Crooked Circle," by Gerald Verner; "Gun Boss Reynolds," by Dorford Yates; "Beau," Mrs. Harry Push Smith; and "Autumn Madness," by Francis Wallace.

Bluejay Golfers Wind Up Season

Plan to Form Team to Play Other Schools Next Spring

Menasha — Because of extra activity at the Ridgeway Golf club, golf instruction for Menasha High school students has been concluded for the season. Joseph Nadelny and A. J. Armstrong were the instructors.

Although no competition was sought this year, it is expected that next season a golf team will be formed from among the best of the group to represent the local school in matches against schools in this territory.

Those who reported for golf instruction included Rosemary Griffith, Annaliese Grode, Alfred Grode, Louise Dorow, Myra Timmerman, Marion Homay, Marie Kopsky, Patty Corry, Dudley Chaffee, Hubert Nelson, Edward Cheslock, James Omachinski, John Maciejewski, Joseph Michalkiewicz, Joseph Bryzcki, Frank Koester, Herbert Hartung, Maribeth Sensenbrenner, Audrey Stroetz, Helen Hendy, Beryl Nelson, Mary Louise Johnson, Vernon DesJarlais, Bernard Middleton, Frank Younger, Jane Rosch, Jane McGrath, Verron Ponto and Robert Gazecki.

Mayor Seeks Aid For Seventh Street Sewer

Menasha — Mayor Walter E. Held yesterday visited the WPA district offices at Green Bay in an effort to secure aid in the installation of the seventh street sewer project. The mayor expects a decision in late June.

The pressing need of a sewer at that point, because of the construction of the new high school on Seventh street, was discussed by Aldermen at last Tuesday's council session and it was decided that if aid could be secured, the city would have to do the work.

Aldermen decided at that time that equipment could be rented and employees of the street department could be utilized on the project, so that the work could be completed before the opening of the building.

UNION MEETINGS
Menasha — The Federal Labor Union, Local No. 1575, will conduct a regular meeting at 7:30 this evening in the meeting hall at the Twin City Union club. The Box-makers Union, Local No. 201, will meet at 8:30 Saturday afternoon at the club.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Congregational Church Picnic Will be Tomorrow

Menasha — The annual picnic of members of the First Congregational church will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Menasha park. Families will provide their own food and coffee will be served by the committee.

Details of the program and entertainment are being arranged under the direction of Robert Schultz, John Michle and John Kaufman. Games and contests of interest to both children and adults will be staged.

Receive 12 Bids On Neenah Sewers

Committee Will Make Recommendations at Meeting Tonight

Neenah — Twelve bids were opened for installation of storm and sanitary sewers in Neenah by the committee on public improvements during a meeting at the city hall last evening. The committee is expected to present a recommendation to the council at a meeting this evening. Following are the total bids:

A. Goll, Milwaukee, $11,108.08; Hohensee Construction Co., $11,204.40; Charles A. Green and Son, Appleton, $10,402; A. F. Sawyer, Neenah, $9,360.64; Wozakowski and Co., $11,466.50; John Schlise, $11,045.75.

Menasha Society

Menasha — Mrs. G. A. Bubltz was named president of the Wimodausis Bridge club Thursday afternoon at the business meeting which preceded the picnic and social at the summer home of Mrs. O. S. Swenson, Payne's point. Mrs. Harvey Tenneson was chosen vice president.

Mrs. Carl Anderson, secretary and Mrs. W. Friedlander, treasurer. Honors in bridge went to Mrs. Louis Herziger and Mrs. W. L. Wheeler. Mrs. J. R. Halstrom won the traveling prize.

Menasha High school Band Mothers will hold a special meeting at 7:30 this evening in the band auditorium to discuss plans for assisting the Lions club in financing the trip of the Menasha High school band to the Lions International in Chicago in July.

Mrs. Frederick Herick, 328 First street, entertained informally at bridge Thursday evening at her home. Honors went to Mrs. Ralph Success and Mrs. Henry Luebke. Mrs. William Campbell won the floating prize.

Menasha High school Band Mothers will sponsor a covered dish picnic at Jefferson school at 6 o'clock Wednesday, June 23. Members will bring their husbands. Cards and other entertainment will feature the evening's program. Mrs. John Chadek, Mrs. T. Walsh, Mrs. Kenneth Carrick and Mrs. M. Moore are members of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Leo Zick, Mrs. Bertha Finch and Mrs. Bert Finch were hostesses at a coin show Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bert Finch, 731 First street, in honor of Miss Ruth Dennis who is to be married this month. Honors in bridge and schafkopf played during the evening went to Mrs. Anna Fahrback, Mrs. Josephine Tratz and Mrs. Emma Geibel. Mrs. Fred Rohloff and Mrs. Frank Kassel. Mrs. Rohloff also won the guest prize.

Mrs. Lawrence Rasmussen, 408 Oak street, entertained Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Walter Novak. Cards were played during the evening and honors went to Mrs. Charles Handier and Mrs. Agnes Hodiowicz.

Miss Jane Page was honor guest Wednesday afternoon at her home when her mother, Mrs. Edward Page, entertained for her in honor of her sixth birthday anniversary. Games were played. Guests were Marian Pack, Ellen J. Gooser, Marilyn, Barbara, Ruth Genion, Audrey Handier and Mary Ann DesJarlais.

A steak fry on the shores of Lake Winnebago ended an evening ride for a group of riders from the Banta Publishing company last night. Twelve persons rode on a 10-mile trip into the country and returned with the stars, Clara Landis and Ruth Handier were in charge.

Mrs. Andrew Borenz, Mrs. Paul Schultz, Jr. and Mrs. Paul Theimer, Sr., entertained Thursday evening at the home of the latter at 432 Second street, in honor of Miss Florence Schmitt whose marriage to Paul Theimer, Jr., will take place June 22. Van Thiel, the latter two of Little Chute. Mrs. H. Verkuilen, Little Chute, won the bunco prize and Miss Alta Theimer received the guest prize.

Mrs. William Holmes Ahnapp street, entertained members of the Sunshine Club at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Emma Smith won the bridge prize and Mrs. Nellie Strong won the schafkopf prize. Twenty-five ladies attended the party.

Young Ladies, Sedalia, St. Patrick's Catholic church, made plans for an ice cream social to be held in the near future and named Arleen Keopack and Lorraine Dahms as co-chairmen at a meeting Thursday.

A BOOK THAT NEVER GROWS OLD

For her son Jack, left, above, are the scrapbooks which Mrs. Hans Hefti, 1102 E. Forest avenue, Neenah, is compiling so that he may someday have the illustrated and written account of her experiences as a member of the first American Red Cross expedition to Poland after the World war. Jack likes to look at the pictures and hear the stories about each one but when he is older, he will read the written account of those travels with keener interest.

Neenah Woman's Hobby Is Compiling Record of Experience With Red Cross

Neenah — If she should never again travel beyond the borders of the United States, Mrs. Hans Hefti, 1102 E. Forest avenue, will have no regrets for she once went half way round the world with a typewriter under her arm as a member of the first American Red Cross expedition to Poland and her experiences would fill several books.

Not only did she know personalities in American Red Cross work, not only did she meet counts and countesses, Paderewski and his Madame when he was premier of Poland, not only was the cameraman on the expedition a man whose name today figures prominently in the motion picture industry on the west coast, but Mrs. Hefti had the opportunity to take short "vacations" from her rigorous duties and visit famous places in Austria, Poland, Russia, France, Belgium and elsewhere.

Today as she takes time out from her duties as a housewife and mother, to work on her hobby which is the completion of the illustrated and typewritten account of her experiences from the time she left New York Harbor until her return, Mrs. Hefti recalls that it was 19 years ago this fall she left New York Harbor on one of the three steamers carrying the American Red Cross workers across the Atlantic.

It is more than a scrap book which Mrs. Hefti is compiling, it is almost a book of those experiences, with many exciting pictures that she took herself during the months she spent on the European continent. Not only is the work being done because one of Mrs. Hefti's hobbies is making scrapbooks but also because Mrs. Hefti would like to have her son Jack have that written and pictured account some day when he is older and will be able to read it with understanding and keen interest.

Docking in Glasgow, Scotland on a Sunday morning, the Red Cross workers found, to their dismay, that they would have to remain on board the ship until Monday because the Sabbath is never broken in Scotland and the custom's offices were closed. During the five days in London, Mrs. Hefti and other members of the party visited the famous Westminster Abbey, the historic tower of London built by William, the Conqueror, Dickens' Old Curiosity Shop and dined at the Ye Olde Cheshire Cheese where Dr. Samuel Johnson ate his pigeon pies.

Met Madame Curie
In France, while doing work for the Red Cross in Hotel Louvre, Mrs. Hefti again made use of her leisure hours and visited the Pantheon, the Sorbonne and other interesting places. Among the personalities she met while in France was the internationally known Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium. Several months later she entertained for Warsaw with the American Red Cross mission to Poland.

With war talk making banner headlines in most American newspapers today, Mrs. Hefti recalls those children of Poland, victims from starvation due to the war, and remembers what misery and suffering the Poles were forced to undergo because of war.

"I remember," she said, "at one place where we stopped on our route through Poland with the medical supply train, we set up our field unit in a Russian hospital that had been used successfully by Russian, Austrians and Germans. We put our 'cotton mill' to work sterilizing the clothing of the refugees for it was the cotton that carried the typhus germ. We saw people with nothing to eat but bread made of chaff, pulp from trees, bark and potato peelings. I saw one mother make soup from grass."

En route back to France, Mrs. Hefti had an opportunity to visit evening in the school hall. Bunco was played during the social hour and prizes went to Marjorie Kitchen, Gwendolyn Ely, Ruth Christiansen and Evelyn Garfield. The next meeting of the club will be July 1.

Members of Nicolet council, Knights of Columbus, held a regular meeting in the K. of C. hall at Menasha. Usual business was transacted.

Sailboat Races Feature Brigade Program at Camp

Tournaments, Swimming Lessons Started, Clubs Organized

Neenah — Three sailboat races were held under the direction of Fred Solomon and Leo Schubart at the Boys' Brigade camp on Onaway island, Waupaca, yesterday afternoon. The results are as follows:

First race, Charles Overly, first; Robert Jackson, second; Howard Jacobson, third; second race, Harold Borenz first; Art Jackson, second; Carl Krause, third; third race, Donald Benton, first; Richard Meyer, second; Harvey Buntrock, disqualified.

Tournaments began at the thirty-third annual encampment yesterday and are scheduled to be finished by Tuesday. A total of 40 boys reported for boxing and five divisions are planned in wrestling. Two baseball games were played with Art Jackson's Cubs defeating Harvey Buntrock's Cardinals, 5-2, and Mayhew Schmidt's Pirates beating Robert Jackson's Giants, 7-2.

Art Jackson pitched for the Cubs while Chris Lemberg hurled for the Pirates and Dick Lemberg and Dino Burts looked for the Giants.

Hold Chapel Service
Morning chapel services were conducted by Donald Benton's tent with Paul Schmidt, William Overly and Roy Douglas taking part. Tent inspection results are as follows: Tent No. 7, Sergeant Harold Borenz, first; Tent No. 5, Sergeant Arthur Krause and Tent No. 11, Sergeant Charles Reidhauser, tied for second; Tent No. 3, Sergeant Arthur Jackson, third.

Bernard Ackerman passed a 75-foot swimming test allowing him privileges of deep side swimming. Kite-flying proved a popular sport yesterday afternoon with one reaching an altitude of 1,000 feet. It was jerked from the hands of Ivan Ship, Jr., by heavy gust of wind, according to Stan Menning, camp correspondent.

A microscopic class was organized yesterday under the direction of Earl Williams to study bugs, small objects, both living and dead. The boys will mount specimens on glass slides. Harold Borenz is the assistant leader and members of the class are Bob Mais, Charles Brien, Donald Bentzen, James Hooper, Robert Redlin, Donald Gomol, Billy Dehke, Douglas Nagel, Billy Schultz, Calvin Krueger, Herbert Kramer, Billy Dowling, Douglas Smith, James Rosenow, Bob Stalfeld, Charles Krueger.

Trial at Campfire
A mock trial was presented at the campfire last evening. Leo Schubart was presiding judge, Gilbert Sawyer was the state's attorney, Paul Stacker was the defending attorney, and Earl Williams was the court clerk. Some of the cases were: 1. That of Farmer Jones who complained of the garbage containing rotting but tin cans, with the result that his pigs died of indigestion; 2. That of Lester Redlin, Billy Daniels, Jack Ward, Harold Weitz, and Jim Webb, Jr., were accused of snoring and keeping fellow tent-mates awake at night; 3. That Orville Peterson disturbed the peace over at Soldier's home with his accordion, he was punished by rendering several selections to the campers; 4. That Harold Dix, Harvey Koerwitz, Edward Kraus, and Robert Jackson were held for snoring in the streets at Waupaca and disturbing the peace of the residents. They were punished by rendering several selections.

40 at 8 Installs Its Officers for Year

Menasha — Dr. V. C. Kulnick was installed as chief de guerre of the Menasha post of the 40 at 8 at a meeting held last night at Menasha. Other officers installed included: Earl Hill, correspondent; C. B. Anderson, chief de train; H. V. Wuersch, commissary; D. G. N. Ducklow, commissary; Carl Meyer, commissary; Edward Johnson, commissary; Joseph Reddy, Ben Hart and George Rasmussen, cheminots.

Plans for an active summer and winter season were discussed at the meeting. The post added several members at a wreck held recently and also held a successful picnic.

LEGION PICNIC

Menasha — Legionnaires of Menasha and Neenah and their families will hold a picnic at Lakeview park Saturday. Games and contests for children and adults have been planned and prizes will be awarded to both groups.

Life, Customs of Sioux Indians Related to Neenah Rotary Club

Neenah — Life and customs of the Sioux Indians were described by Dr. Ralph V. Landis, Appleton, during his talk, "The Savage Saga," at a meeting of the Neenah Rotary club in the Valley Inn yesterday. Dr. Landis said the tribe was friendly and peace-loving until white men invaded their territory in 1862.

"The savages are correctly known as the Dakota Indians," the speaker claimed. "Sioux" is a word with an obscure meaning given the tribe by the French. They probably inhabited the Atlantic coast at one time but were driven westward by the Iroquois. They mounted horses in the sixteenth century and developed into marvelous riders. Their wealth was measured in the number of horses they possessed, amount of food stored for the winter and number of buffalo skins they owned," the speaker continued.

The tribe, which roamed the Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska, enforced strict principles of government. Arrows carried individual markings and a dead buffalo belonged to the owner of the fatal arrow. Murderers were banished from the tribe for a 5-year period. Religion was mystic and marriage customs varied with the times being monogamous in prosperity, polygamous in depressions.

The Sioux relied upon rapid movement and surprise tactics when in battle and hasty retreats did not mean the Indian was "cowardly," Dr. Landis said. The object was to wear down the enemy, detach groups and turn on them. A treaty was signed giving the Indians the Black Hill and surrounding area but was broken when gold was discovered, he said.

Milk Dealers Must Apply for Licenses

Lions Enlist Aid Of Band Mothers

Seek Help in Raising Funds for Unit's Trip To Chicago

Menasha — With the tickets printed and ready for distribution, members of the Menasha Lions club are all set to open the drive for funds to send the Menasha High school band to Chicago in July.

The committee in charge last night met with the Band Mothers who agreed to get behind the scheme and promote the sale of tickets which will be good for any one picture at the Brin theater over a period of two weeks. The Band Mothers will meet tonight to receive tickets and make plans for house to house canvass.

Other organizations in the city are being contacted to assist in the worthy cause which will give the local band an opportunity to compete with similar units from all over the United States at the Lions International convention. R. E. Fahrback is in charge of the committee on arrangements.

Menasha Utility Makes Plans for New Steam Plant

Public Hearing on Application at Madison On June 24

Menasha—Because of the increase in the demand for electric service in Menasha, plans for the installation of a steam power plant to serve in conjunction with the Diesel units now in use are being considered by the water and light commission.

The Wisconsin Public Service commission yesterday received a notice for a public hearing to be held at 2 o'clock Thursday, June 24, at Madison. The city of Menasha, as a utility had made application to the commission for authority to install a new steam generating plant to augment the present method of producing electricity.

Costs of the investigation and hearing will be assessed against the city of Menasha, the notice stated. It was signed by Fred S. Hunt, commissioner; Robert A. Nixon, commissioner; and William M. Dinneen, secretary.

No definite site has been selected for the construction of the new plant although several have been considered. R. E. Thickens, a member of the Menasha commission said. Plans will not be announced until the decision of the public service commission is reached.

Neenah High School Model Plane in Perfect Flight

Neenah—The "test flight" of a model aeroplane built by the Neenah High school Aeroplane club was so successful yesterday afternoon that a large plane was used to spot the landing place of the small ship.

Fearing the worst, Francis Smonesky and Donald Schanke, released the gas-driven plane, boasting a wing span of five feet, and it soared into the air after a 15-foot takeoff. The silver monoplane climbed to a height of about 600 feet, circled, looped the loop and drifted with the wind about a mile from the airport.

The "ground crew" tried to follow the course of the ship but it was of no avail and Alvin West, airport manager, went up in a plane to search for the miniature plane. He spotted it on the main highway between Appleton and Kaukauna and club members discovered only slight damage to the propeller when they went to its "landing place."

Mr. West described it as a perfect flight and it is planned to give a demonstration as part of the Neenah Playground program after the propeller is replaced. The plane will fly 24 minutes if carrying a full thimble-load of gas but only a few drops were used yesterday. Three more planes are being built by Dale Dodge, Douglas Nelson and Henry Dupont which will be used in the playground "air show," according to Armin Gerhardt, playground director. The flight was held at the airport for fear the ship would crash into a window or land on a roof and burst into flames.

Manager Hedke said today that while he has 51 members to select his team, he will rely strongly on Charles (Chuck) Radford to do the hurling, and Frank Norris, for catcher. He darkly hints he is keeping one pitching prospect for active duty in the "bull-pen" to be ready in case the Menasha Lions roar into a batting spree.

The second game will be played at Oshkosh, Manager Hedke states, with a possibility it may be played at the lighted Sportsman's Park.

Programs Printed For Registered Trap Shoot

Neenah—Programs have been printed for the registered trap shoot to be sponsored by the Twin City Rod and Gun club at Lakeview park at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The event will attract marksmen from the entire state and is sanctioned by the Amateur Trap Shooting association. Three classes will compete and entrance fees will be divided for prize money.

Marjorie McMahon is Named Bank President

Shawano	0	7	.000

LAST NIGHT'S SCORE

New London 6, Manawa 5.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

New London at Clintonville. (Postponed.)

Manawa at Neopoli.

Marion at Shawano.

Wauwaga at Weyauwega.

New London—From fourth to undisputed second place in the Wolf Valley league in one week is the record made by the New London team. The team, which defeated Manawa by a hair, 6 to 5, in a postponed game under the lights here last night, both teams had been tied for second, now leaving four tied for third place with Clintonville.

Clintonville is being torn up this week the regular game scheduled there Sunday has been postponed and the Brewers will rest after a strenuous period.

The game was a close and interesting contest spread out over a period of 2 hours and 15 minutes before a crowd nearly as large as last Sunday when Clintonville went down to its first defeat. Ivan Becker started on the mound for the Brewers and pitched a nearly perfect game for six innings with poor support from his mates while Hable worked for the Wolves with little on the ball.

All the runs on both sides were counted on errors except New London's score in the first inning and two Manawa runs in the sixth.

Krohn Finishes

Tip Krohn finished the game for Becker when his curve weakened in the sixth inning and the Manawa batters found the ball for three hits and two runs which left New London in the lead, 5 to 3.

Becker finished six straight batters in the second and third innings and increased the count to ten by the end of the sixth. He touched two men and walked another before he retired. Hable scored eight strikeouts, downing one almost every inning, and walked three. Krohn added two strikeouts to the Brewers list and walked three men.

Clintonville men for the Brewers was Hank McClellan, a well-known heavy hitter who has been absent from league play so far this summer. He pounded Hable's first offering to the far corner of the field on his first time at bat. Tip Krohn had singled just before and came in on the double.

The home fielders woke up to excellent support after Manawa scored three runs on errors in a hectic fourth inning. Becker had played the whole ball game by himself for three innings and his teammates let down with the second and third basemen each misplaying around in the sand with easy grounders which put two Manawa men on base. A healthy wallop by Glock scored both runners when "Duffy" Edminster missed the catch way back in center field. Edminster made up for it later by snatching two long flies when they meant everything.

Take 3-1 Lead

With the score 2 to 1 and Glock on third, Hable banged out a drive to Demming. A little slow and wild on the peg, Krohn missed the catch as the ball came around Glock near the home plate and the runner scored to make it 3-1. The next two batters went down via the fly route.

New London got the runs back in the second half of the same inning when Palmer walked, Orrin Krohn got to first on a single through a error and both got around another notch with some nice running and sliding at the bases while the invading basemen tried to keep hold of the ball. Edminster fanned next and with two down Schmitke connected for a double and both runners came in to tie the game at 3 up. Schmitke was left on second when Becker fanned.

In the sixth inning with Manawa at bat, Volkman took first on a single and Kellen followed with a hit-and-run double off first. Kellen was hit by a pitched ball which filled the bases with one down. A single by Welch brought Volkman in and a drive by Eastling allowed Kellen to score for a 3-4 lead. Eastling and Welch went down at first base to retire the side.

The Brewers tied back and held the Wolves scoreless the last three innings. After Krohn relieved Becker in the seventh Manawa gained only two hits out of nine good swings.

At bat they started back in the last half of the sixth but their scoring threat blew up. Palmer and Krohn gained bases on a single and Kellen, respectively, then the ball went to first. Schmitke got to first while Palmer was caught between third and home. Westphal came up to pinch hit for Becker but went out at first and left two potential scorers on bases.

In the seventh Demming walked and Sweeney singled. Both came in on errors when C. Krohn smacked another and the game was tied at 5-5. Krohn crossed the plate over the fence. Palmer placed the ball over the other fielders' heads.

Good playing kept the 1-run lead tucked away the last two innings. Demming played a nice game at short and had a good evening at bat with two hits, a walk and a hard fly down center field that was snared for no-count. Three times he got off a long peg from left infield to first base to catch the runner.

"Butch" Larson, Gopher End, Was Great Fighter

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles by Dave Woodward, trainer of the Green Bay Packers, National professional football champions.)

MY sixth All-American, Frank (Butch) Larson, was selected as All-American end, and was coached by Bernie Bierman, who is making history at Minnesota now.

This athlete certainly had what it takes. He was a fighter, and we were compelled to control him to a certain extent. The very first day he reported for football, he let the rest of the squad know that he was tough, and finished that afternoon by coming to blows with one of his team mates. I might add that Butch won the decision.

In high school Butch played full-back, and began his career in that position. However, Bierman at once realized his possibilities as an end, and shifted him.

Butch was 6 feet 2 inches and weighed around 190 pounds in playing condition. He was a great defensive end, and although his floating style of running did not seem especially fast to the observer, he usually was the first man down the field. Due to his height and long reach, he was exceptional at picking passes out of the air, but unfortunately, and for some unknown reason, Butch never had but one touchdown pass thrown to him, and I know he still cherishes the memory of it.

Butch was selected as All-American end in his junior year, and would have undoubtedly been chosen in his senior year too had it not been for a knee injury he received which resulted in a chronically weak knee, and handicapped him considerably.

Butch was the type of end who failed to show outstanding and spectacular play, but he had plenty of smart football in him. His cagy vicious end playing, both on offense and defense, was a leading factor in Minnesota's championship.

Was Not Unkind Although he had a fighter's heart and was a real tough man when the going was tough, I never have known him to do an unkind or unfair act.

In 1935 Larson was voted by the public as one of the outstanding ends in the country to represent the All Stars in their annual game at Soldier field. He did not play much in that game, though in my opinion he was one of the leading ends.

Larson's home is in Duluth, Minnesota, but I do not know at present where he is employed. It is professional football's misfortune that Larson preferred not to join with some club after graduating from college. I believe he would have made an ideal professional end.

It was a treat to watch Larson play around with youngsters. He too thought a lot of boys, and seemed to want to help them at all times, and I know the boys from grammar school age liked Butch. They admire him and think he is a great fellow. And I think so too.

Tip Krohn finished the game for Becker when his curve weakened in the sixth inning and the Manawa batters found the ball for three hits and two runs which left New London in the lead, 5 to 3.

Becker finished six straight batters in the second and third innings and increased the count to ten by the end of the sixth. He touched two men and walked another before he retired. Hable scored eight strikeouts, downing one almost every inning, and walked three. Krohn added two strikeouts to the Brewers list and walked three men.

Clintonville men for the Brewers was Hank McClellan, a well-known heavy hitter who has been absent from league play so far this summer. He pounded Hable's first offering to the far corner of the field on his first time at bat. Tip Krohn had singled just before and came in on the double.

The home fielders woke up to excellent support after Manawa scored three runs on errors in a hectic fourth inning. Becker had played the whole ball game by himself for three innings and his teammates let down with the second and third basemen each misplaying around in the sand with easy grounders which put two Manawa men on base. A healthy wallop by Glock scored both runners when "Duffy" Edminster missed the catch way back in center field. Edminster made up for it later by snatching two long flies when they meant everything.

Take 3-1 Lead With the score 2 to 1 and Glock on third, Hable banged out a drive to Demming. A little slow and wild on the peg, Krohn missed the catch as the ball came around Glock near the home plate and the runner scored to make it 3-1. The next two batters went down via the fly route.

New London got the runs back in the second half of the same inning when Palmer walked, Orrin Krohn got to first on a single through a error and both got around another notch with some nice running and sliding at the bases while the invading basemen tried to keep hold of the ball. Edminster fanned next and with two down Schmitke connected for a double and both runners came in to tie the game at 3 up. Schmitke was left on second when Becker fanned.

In the sixth inning with Manawa at bat, Volkman took first on a single and Kellen followed with a hit-and-run double off first. Kellen was hit by a pitched ball which filled the bases with one down. A single by Welch brought Volkman in and a drive by Eastling allowed Kellen to score for a 3-4 lead. Eastling and Welch went down at first base to retire the side.

The Brewers tied back and held the Wolves scoreless the last three innings. After Krohn relieved Becker in the seventh Manawa gained only two hits out of nine good swings.

At bat they started back in the last half of the sixth but their scoring threat blew up. Palmer and Krohn gained bases on a single and Kellen, respectively, then the ball went to first. June 17—Fox River 9, Machines 4.

HOWARD Branchford's arm was too steady for the Machines last night as he hurled the Fox River softballers to a 9 to 4 victory and pushed his team into a tie for second place in American league standings. Branchford allowed four hits, but his mates were credited with five errors.

The Fox River started the scoring in the second inning, by taking a 4-run lead and the outcome of the game was never in doubt. Machines came back with two runs in the third, but the Fox River added two more in the fourth and went on to build up its lead. Branchford could have made it a shutout win if it hadn't been for the erring ways of his mates as he struck out 10 and gave up only 3 bases on balls.

Daniels, Pope and Lammers tapped two hits apiece in four trips to the plate and Pope and Lammers each scored two runs. Wearer socked one hit in two trips and scored three of the Fox River runs. Extra base hits were credited to Daniels and Branchford, both clouting doubles.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Bonduel at Seymour (10 a.m.)

Krakow vs. Gillett

Oconto Falls at Cecil.

Seymour—Seymour baseball team will try to haul Bonduel from the top of the Land o' Lakes league standings here at 10 o'clock Sunday morning when the teams clash in the feature of the day's Farmers' Festival. If Seymour can bump Bonduel and someone stop Cecil before the first round of play ends, the three teams will be tied for honors.

Both Al Bauers and Wanie will be ready for duty Sunday with the veteran Bauers probably getting the nod. Hartjes will be behind the log. Seymour downed Bonduel 6 to 5 in their first meeting.

Cecil is scheduled to show at home Sunday against Oconto Falls and while it is favored, the Falls may upset the dope. In the other game Krakow will show at Gillett. Seymour fans are becoming enthusiastic about their team's invasion of Kimberly on the night of June 24 for a night contest. Several hundred fans are planning to follow.

Barney Ross Proves Too Tough for Chuck Woods

Indianapolis—(7)—Chuck Woods' gameness was futile as the Detroit puncher ran into dynamite in both fists of Barney Ross, world's welterweight champion, and lost by a four-round knockout here last night. Ross' title was not at stake.

Ross, hard-hitting Chicagoan, weighed 143 and Woods 148. Ross showed his superiority from the start and there was little doubt of the outcome. His smashing right floored Woods for the count after one minute 50 seconds of the fourth round.

Homer in Eighth Gives Negro Team Win Over Kaws, 4-3

Joie Vils Leads Brewer Hitting Attack With Three Singles

Kaukauna—With the score tied at 2-all, Hill of the Indianapolis A's, pinch-hitting for Smith, first baseman, walked out in the eighth inning and belted the first pitch over the fence, scoring another runner ahead of him and cinching the game for the colored team that opposed Kaukauna here last night.

The Kaws scored in that inning, too. Eggert getting home from third when Zelinski grounded to first base, but the rally stopped there and the Brewers lost the game 4-3.

On the promotional end, practically all arrangements have been completed. The 22-foot ring in which Louis lost to Max Baer, Schmeling in New York has been set up directly over second base on the White Sox playing field in Comiskey park. Workmen have well under way their job of building the 25,000 elevated ringside seats.

Mike Jacobs, associated with Joe Foley in promoting the contest, said about $700,000 was "in the bank" in advance ticket sales and that the still was confident the fight will sell out all 30,000 seats.

Most observers, however, believe the fight will draw between 60,000 and 70,000 fans, with a gate of not more than $800,000.

At his Grand Beach, Mich., camp, Braddock remained calmly confident he will win, remarking that "if he knocks me down I'll get up." Louis looked impressive in his Thursday drill, showing a better defense for right hand punches—than at any time since he started boxing. The betting odds remained at 3 to 1 on Louis.

PRELIMINARY BOUTS

Chicago—(7)—Seven preliminary bouts are on Tuesday night's fight card which will be headed by the welterweight title contest between Champion Jim Braddock and Joe Louis.

The title battle probably will go on between 8:30 and 9 o'clock (Central Standard Time), with one or two of the secondary fights being put on after the championship affair. In the event of threatening weather, however, the Louis-Braddock bout can be started at any time between 7 and 9 o'clock, regardless of radio contracts.

The secondary bouts, in which all contestants are heavyweights, are: Four rounds—Alex Kettles, South Bend, Ind., vs. Henry Cooper, Brooklyn.

Four rounds—Bernie Bowman, Chicago, vs. Jack McCarthy, Boston.

Four rounds—Max Roesch, Dallas, Texas, vs. Steve Carr, Meriden, Conn.

Six rounds—Abe Feldman, New York, vs. Max Navorick, Austria.

Six rounds—Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., vs. Charley Massera, Pittsburgh.

Six rounds—Jorge Brescia, South America, vs. Harry Thomas, Chicago.

Six rounds—Arturo Godoy, Chile, vs. Tony Galento, Newark, N. J.

The first bout will start at 6:30 (C. S. T.)

A sweepstakes tournament will be held Saturday at the Riverview Country Club course, with each player acting as a jockey and choosing his own horse. Men and women will mix in a 2-bat foursome in the Sunday tournament, according to club officials.

Stage Is Set for World Title Bout At Comiskey Park

Betting Odds Remain 3 to 1 on Joe Louis to Cop From Jim Braddock

BY EARLE HILLIGAN

Chicago—(7)—Looking forward to a final "big push" over the weekend, principals and promoters alike marked time today in their preparations for the world's heavyweight title battle Tuesday night between Champion James J. Braddock and Challenger Joe Louis.

Both fighters, almost trained down to ring weight, rested at their respective camps. Braddock, who scaled 198 after a workout yesterday in which he belted his sparmates mercilessly, indicated he would spend the day quietly, even foregoing golf. Louis was expected to take in a motion picture at Kenosha, Wis.

Braddock will box six rounds tomorrow and four or five Sunday in his training wind-up. Louis also will go through drills on both those days before packing to await his shot at the championship.

On the promotional end, practically all arrangements have been completed. The 22-foot ring in which Louis lost to Max Baer, Schmeling in New York has been set up directly over second base on the White Sox playing field in Comiskey park. ## MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: A mysterious shot kills attractive Jude Blinshop on a wild, stormy night at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. Everyone marooned on this island is suspect: Mike, who talked with Jude alone that night; the Skipper, his tall and tweedy younger aunt; Aunt Martha, stout and prudish; Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart; Higgins, the elderly butler; William, the chauffeur; Cook; Annie, the maid - even I, Mike's closest friend. Then we find traces of an outsider, perhaps, a maniac, who must be loose in the house. Our search is futile.

The greatest danger of all, my dear boy, is that we may allow our imaginations to run away with us. Our predicament is unpleasant in the extreme and entirely unexpected. The thought of the supernatural in connection with these strange occurrences is inevitable, but thoroughly absurd. If we think--

From behind the rubber plant, I gaped at her. The supernatural! M. Farrington arguing about the supernatural! Were we all going crazy?

Action For Everyone

"Don't worry, Aunt Martha," I said. "Cook of course would think banquets were after her if a man blew out. But I'm sure the rest of us are too."

The picture of Gay in hysterics in the next room stopped me. I gaped impatiently for a cigarette. "Grace is not herself, James!" Confound the woman! Do she think me deaf as well as dumb? "In our present overcrowded condition, we tend to reduce perfectly normal appearances to the basis of supernatural phenomena. We must resist this tendency. I advise you to exercise immediate physical action for everyone. This warning is unpleasant."

I exploded. "But damn it! I warned. We can't keep pestering around the house playing hide-and-seek. We've done enough searching for 10 houses! What the devil can we do?"

"How do you usually amuse yourself?" She was laughing at me. Her lips never moved, but she was laughing. I got to my feet and lunged into the living room.

Mike's back was just retreating through the hall door. In a far corner of the room Michael was bending over Gay with a glass of something in his hand. The Skipper glanced round from the window, but returned immediately to her survey of the darkness outside.

"How about bed?" I meant to say cheerfully.

Mike straightened up. "Don't be fantastic."

"All right." My voice started out faintly and ended in a ghastly croak. "Then let's do something to amuse ourselves. Bridge? Billiards?"

"Dominoes!" Michael jerked. "Anything. Gay's voice was shrill and shaky. 'We can't just sit here. Let's do something!'"

And so we tried it. I dragged out a table, located some cards, drew

Nick Schmidt Is Reelected Farm Loan Body Chief

Clintonville Association
Also Retains All
Other Officers

Clintonville — The Clintonville Federal Farm Loan association held its annual meeting Tuesday in Central park. All officers were reelected: Nick Schmidt, president; Harry Plumb, vice president; Max Stieg, secretary-treasurer; Fred Zellmer, Ed Peters and Louis Miller, directors. The meeting was opened at 11 o'clock in the forenoon with an address of welcome by Mayor A. A. Washburn. Following the roll-call Max Stieg gave the annual report of the secretary-treasurer. The local group belongs to the St. Paul district.

Following a picnic dinner for members and their families, a ball game provided amusement. A team of Bear Creek men, captained by Harry Plumb, was defeated, 10 to 4, by a mixed team of which Nick Schmidt was the captain. For a number of years, the Bear Creek team had been victorious.

Central Circle of the Congregational Dances society will conduct an ice cream social Saturday afternoon, June 19, on the church lawn. Luncheon will also be sold commencing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The first outdoor band concert of the season given by the Clintonville Community band was held in Central park Thursday evening.

Mrs. Oscar Hagen and daughters Jean and Joan left Friday for Wisconsin Rapids to spend a week with her parents and other relatives.

A large crew of city laborers has been busy this week moving old buildings and machinery from the James Kuester property recently purchased by the city for an addition to Central park. Low places are being filled up and some baseball diamonds will be relocated to the new property. Flood lights will be installed in time for the golden jubilee and homecoming celebration July 3, 4 and 5.

Milk Malt Contest
Entries are now being received for the milk malt contest to be held in this city during the Golden Jubilee celebration, July 3, 4 and 5. The milk malt is a milk her cow in three minutes or less will win a $15 prize, and nine other cash prizes will be awarded. All milk malts of the state may enter the contest. E. A. Hutchinson, instructor of agriculture in the local school, is the contest chairman.

Mrs. E. C. Nelson and three children have arrived here from Washington, D. C., to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. Anna Dilley, and other relatives and friends. Nelson's will also camp at Claver Leaf lakes during their stay here.

The Busy Twelve of St. Martin Lutheran church was entertained Wednesday afternoon at Appleton at the home of Mrs. Otto Rogge, formerly of Clintonville.

A daughter, Caryl Jean, was born June 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cobb of Green Bay. Mrs. Cobb was formerly Miss Lucinda Splitgerber of Clintonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Benton Sievers are the parents of a daughter, June Rose, born June 11 at their home near this city.

Edward Sisson and his sister, Mrs. H. G. Zander and children are spending a week at Walhalla, N. D., with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sisson and other relatives and friends.

Edward Thies and son Eugene left Thursday afternoon for Milwaukee, where they are spending a few days.

Begin Improvements
On Church Monday

New London — Work of improving the interior of the Emanuel Lutheran church will begin Monday, it was announced today by the Rev. W. E. Pankow. New interior decorating, lighting and heating systems and improved acoustics are planned to the extent of $4,000. All work was let to New London contractors.

Because the church will be under repair, the regular communion services scheduled the last Sunday of the month will be held at the church this Sunday, the pastor announced.

New London Personal
New London — Mr. and Mrs. Chris Prahl are visiting at Sheboygan this week. They plan to return Sunday.

R. V. Prahl today drove Fred Prahl to Janesville where the latter will continue his fourth summer in the Wisconsin State School for the Blind.

Two Softball Games
Planned For Tonight

New London — Two softball games will be played by city industrial league teams at the city ball park tonight. At 7 o'clock Borens and Plywoods, two trailing teams, will play off a postponed game followed about 8:15 by the regular Ham-ton-Edison game. Hamitons are at the top with two wins while the Edison has broken even. Teams of the first game are on a par with standings, each having lost two games.

During the Russian revolution more than 1,000,000 acres of land belonging to landowners were acquired by the peasantry.

Many New Books Placed In New London Library

New London — A book outstanding in 12 countries and translated into eight languages in its short existence is "Inside Europe," one of the new books made available at the New London public library today. A crisply written account of the inner workings of the political turmoil in Europe, the author, John Gunther, for 11 years European correspondent for a Chicago newspaper, has set down an intimate and personal story of the dictators and statesmen of the countries involved.

Their personalities, human characteristics, their likes and dislikes, even their sex life, is discussed informally by the author who has personally contacted and studied impartially all of which he writes about. This latest edition also includes an up-to-date account of the present Spanish Civil War and the reasons behind it all.

Another new book, "The Sound of Running Feet" by Josephine Lawrence, relates the great human story of the depression. All the problems and emotions and private and business relations among workers in a small real estate office in a large city, from the president down to the janitor, are forcefully told in this thesis novel.

Replacement books include "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" by John Fox, Jr., the subject of a recent all-color motion picture; "The Sea Hawk" by Sabatini, author of "Captain Blood"; and others; and "Wallflowers" by Temple Bailey.

For junior readers is "Young Mexico," a fresh, vivid picture of boys and girls in Mexico as reported by that popular writer of young people's books, Miss Anne Merriman Peck.

Children's books include "Drusilla," the story told of a little girl's doll; "Cowboy Jimmy"; "Ming and Melitah," the latter about a little girl in Guam with a Japanese poodle.

Two Softball Games
Planned For Tonight

New London — Two softball games will be played by city industrial league teams at the city ball park tonight. At 7 o'clock Borens and Plywoods, two trailing teams, will play off a postponed game followed about 8:15 by the regular Ham-ton-Edison game. Hamitons are at the top with two wins while the Edison has broken even. Teams of the first game are on a par with standings, each having lost two games.

During the Russian revolution more than 1,000,000 acres of land belonging to landowners were acquired by the peasantry.

Schedule Daily Swim Periods

Hundreds of Swimmers Entering Pool Every Day at Kimebrly

Kimberly — Four periods of swimming for children at the swimming pool have been scheduled each day with the exception of Sunday afternoons when the pool will not be open to bathers. From 9 to 10 o'clock each morning is the boys' hour, and from 10 to 11 o'clock is reserved for the girls. During the afternoon the boys can swim from 2 to 3 o'clock and the girls from 3 to 4 o'clock. Adults can use the pool daily. Patrick Lemmers is in charge. The pool, which was recently re-opened, opened Wednesday morning and is attracting hundreds of swimmers each day.

The Fleur-de-Lis club was entertained at the home of Miss Clara La Berger Tuesday evening by Mrs. Estella Prossgrave. Schafskopf was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Emma Pocan, first; Mrs. Arthur Gokey, second, and Miss Lou Pocan, traveling. Next week the club will be entertained at the home of Miss Lou Pocan.

Miss Helen Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson, left last week for Milwaukee where she is employed.

A picnic dinner was served Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Young in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Young. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waite, Embarras; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mielke and daughter, Jeanette, Galesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neimets and sons, Robert and Neichtwey, Shawano; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Strong and daughters, Luella and Maxine, and son, Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ames, Leeman; Mr. and Mrs. F. Young, Deer Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Fuhrman and family and John Fuhrman were visitors at the home of the latter's mother at Wittenburg Sunday.

Board at Kimberly
Grants 7 Licenses

Kimberly — Seven Class B beverage and liquor license applications were granted and one application was disallowed at a village meeting Wednesday evening.

Joseph Coppens, who operated on Kimberly avenue for the last two years, was granted an application for license for a tavern and will locate on Main street July 1 where he will take over the Bowling Alley business. Other applications granted were: M. H. Verbeten, Henry Wynboom, Elmer Behrendt, Andrew De Leeuw, G. Gerondale, and Amede Hofkins.

The board will meet in about two weeks in a joint meeting with the Combined Locks board to discuss the sewerage disposal plant.

Fremont Gun Club Plans More Shoots

Two Captains are Elected For Competitive Events

Fremont—At the monthly meeting of the Fremont Gun club Wednesday evening it was unanimously decided to put on some more of the evening shoots. Two captains were elected, Joseph Swedesky and Frank Walker, who will choose teams. The two teams will shoot a competitive match and the losing team is to buy refreshments to be served after the shoot. The first shoot will be held at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Gun club grounds. The next regular Sunday shoot will be held on June 27, at 2 o'clock.

The semi-annual rally of the young people's societies affiliated with the churches of the Missouri synod in Waupaca county will be held Sunday at Symco.

Inspirational service will be conducted at 2:30 and papers will be read by members. In the evening each society will take part in an entertainment after which games will be played.

The bunco club held its annual picnic Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Paul Zuehlke. Table games were played and each member received a prize. The event closed the season for the club. The club's next meeting will be held in September.

Herman Smith, Jr., has purchased the former Teska garage and residence on Main street from William Hildebrand and will take possession soon.

Birthday Party Given At Stephenville Home

Stephenville—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kiermas, entertained at their home Monday evening in honor of the former's birthday. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day, East DePere; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Casey, New London; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schultes, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. William Harmon and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schwab, and John Schroth, Stephenville. The evening was spent socially.

Miss Evelyn Schroth has returned from Madison where she had been attending the University of Wisconsin to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroth.

Francis Beschta, who is employed at Milwaukee, is spending the week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beschta.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Schmidt, motored to Marinette, Thursday for a few days visit with relatives. They were accompanied by the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve McClone, Sr., Deer Creek.

Kiwanis Clubs In Joint Meeting

Five Service Organizations Have Session at Centerville

Chilton—An inter-club meeting of Kiwanians was held Tuesday at Stratham's place at Centerville. The clubs of Appleton, Chilton, Manitowoc, Plymouth and Sheboygan were represented, the meeting being sponsored by the Manitowoc club. One hundred and twenty members were present, the largest representation being from Manitowoc. Each club was called on for some entertainment. The Sheboygan club furnished music by the Sheboygan Symphony Orchestra, while singing by the Manitowoc club was led by Henry Detgen. The Appleton club gave a piano solo and song.

Past President G. M. Morrissey of the Chilton club responded to excerpts from the Passion Play by members of the Chilton club. The reciting was preceded by a fish fry.

Fourteen members of the Calumet Ladies' Golf club were at Fond du Lac Tuesday, where they played the Fond du Lac women, the Chilton group winning the honors. The Chilton women have yet to meet defeat at the hands of an opposing team.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olson have moved from the Alves residence on Grand street to an apartment in the Fox building on State street. Mrs. Bertha Alves and grandson, Creighton Hardin, who spent the last year at Spencer, Ark., have returned to Chilton for the summer. Creighton finished his freshman year in college in Arkansas.

Give Program at New Gymnasium

Fourth Anniversary of PWA Organization Observed at Bear Creek

Bear Creek—A program was presented at the opening of the new Bear Creek gymnasium Wednesday evening in recognition of a nationwide celebration of the PWA which originated just four years on June 16.

E. J. Voelker, PWA official of Milwaukee, gave a talk on the work of the PWA during the last four years.

Local talent on the program included: music by high school band; songs by girls of the grades of the public school; songs by girls of the high school; song, "Little Old Lady," Marjorie Batters; tap dancing by Mary Golden and Virginia Dempsey; piano solo by Margaret Flanagan; piano and violin duet by Misses Margaret and Esther Flanagan.

Banns of marriage were announced Sunday by Rev. J. G. De Vries at St. Mary's church for Miss Jeanette Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jarvis of the town of Deer Creek, and James Lehman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lehman of White Lake.

Francis McCone, who has completed a course at Oakton State Teachers' college, will be a member of the faculty at Oconto Falls High school next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jepson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jepson, Mrs. A. A. Sommers and Harold Jepson returned Monday evening from Madison where they attended the marriage of Miss Calla Jepson and James T. Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Huebner returned to their home at Sun Prairie Monday following a weekend visit with the H. Zemple family in this locality. Glenn Zemple returned home with them and will spend two weeks at Sun Prairie.

Loy Long returned Saturday from Minneapolis and spent the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Long.

Raymond Paul and Rex Bechard of this locality motored to Evansville, Ind., Friday. They were accompanied by Miss Vera Bechard who is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bechard, Mrs. Gertrude Long and daughter Jean, Loy Long, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bechard attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Thielle at Oconto Falls Sunday.

Joseph Thielle, who has spent several weeks at Madison, receiving medical treatment, has returned to his home.

Seymour Luther Leagues Make Plans for Picnic

Seymour — Thirty members of the Luther League were present at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening. The matter of having the Luther League of Clintonville, Manawa, Marion and West De Pere invited to a picnic with the Seymour League was discussed. Vincent Huth was chosen to send invitations to these leagues.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Haese were surprised Wednesday evening at their home in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Forty friends and neighbors were present. Cards provided entertainment for the evening, after which a lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Haese were presented with a gift.

Over 160 young people, representing more than one-million boys and girls over the country, will meet here June 18-23 to consider how to make the most of their rural heritage, study government organization, and visit historic shrines, the Department of Agriculture said.

Under the theme, "Making the Most of Our Rural Heritage," the delegates will hear Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Dr. Alfred Bilmanis, Minister from Latvia, Rep. Virginia E. Jenckes and many other government officials and farm experts.

The meeting is sponsored by the Agriculture Department and will mark the eleventh year that members of the 4-H clubs have camped in the Capital.

4-H Club Members At Washington

Four Badger Young People In Army at Nation's Capital

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Four Wisconsin 4-H club members will be camping with a young army of fellow delegates in West Potomac park in Washington this week-end, the Department of Agriculture announces. They are:

Carolina Page, Ripon; Alice Bu Dahn, Sheboygan Falls; Merton Sutter, Fountain City; William Finn, Argyle. As is the custom, two boys and two girls from each state are chosen to represent their fellow 4-H club members back on the farm for outstanding leadership and club work.

Remove Curbing and Gutters From Avenue

Removal of old curbing and gutters on College avenue yesterday was extended to the block between Oneida and Appleton streets by WPA workmen. The old curb and gutter on the avenue from Drew to Story street is being removed and replaced. The avenue later will be resurfaced. About 70 WPA workers are employed on the project. Laying of new curb and gutter was taking place today between Morrison and Oneida streets.

Under the theme, "Making the Most of Our Rural Heritage," the delegates will hear Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Dr. Alfred Bilmanis, Minister from Latvia, Rep. Virginia E. Jenckes and many other government officials and farm experts.

Try Spry

—there's never been anything like this amazing new ALL-vegetable shortening

YOU'LL say so, too, the minute you open the can. At a glance you can see Spry is whiter, smoother, far more inviting than ordinary shortenings. You'll marvel at the glorious ease with which it creams, the smoothness with which it blends with your other ingredients.

And it's always ready for quick, easy creaming. For you don't need to keep Spry in the refrigerator to get chilled and stiff. Because Spry is purer, it stays fresh right on the pantry shelf. Fries without smoke or odor. Stays clear and sweet after repeated fryings. You can use it over and over.

Foods now doubly delicious
How you'll live in the tempting, mouth-melting goodness of foods baked with Spry or fried in Spry! What magic it adds when used in any of your regular recipes! Cakes and biscuits are so much lighter and more delicate. Pastry far more tender and flaky. Fried foods have a golden crispness and flavor they never had before. And they're as easy to digest as if baked or boiled! See for yourself. Get Spry today. Try this amazing new ALL-vegetable shortening now entirely at our risk!

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening—TRIPLE-CREAMED

Read this DARING OFFER
Buy a can of Spry from your grocer. Give Spry every test in pies, cakes, biscuits, fried foods. If you don't find Spry the best shortening you ever used, write to Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass., stating briefly your reasons for not preferring Spry. Send your name and address and the strip of tin that the key takes off when you open the can. You will promptly receive back twice what you paid for Spry. This offer is limited to one can in a family.
TRY SPRY NOW—offer expires July 2

MOTHER HELPED BY KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child. I tried everything. Very reluctantly, I tried your ALL-BRAN with no faith in it at all."

"Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN." — Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk."

Within the body, this cereal absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Enjoy this food instead of taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes.

ALL-BRAN is sold by your grocer. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

State Finds Jobs For Large Number Of Older Workers

14.6 Per Cent of Men Placed in May Were 50 Or More Years Old

Madison —(AP)—The state industrial commission took issue Thursday with the depression-born complaint: "No one will give me a job; I'm too old."

During May, the commission said, its employment service placed 7,286 job seekers and 14.6 per cent of the men and 11.3 per cent of the women were 50 or more years old.

The commission also noted a revival of optimism among elderly persons searching for employment. The statistics for the month showed 13 per cent of the men and 8 per cent of the women who registered at 26 district offices were 50 years of age or over.

"The average age of persons placed is higher than the average of new applicants for work," the commission said. "The median age of all men placed during May was 33.2 years; that of women 31.7 years. The median age of male applicants was 28.9 years; of women 25.8 years."

Young folk, however, had an advantage in the competition for work. Twenty-six and one-tenth per cent of the men placed during May were under 25 years. Women in the same age group took 34.6 per cent of the jobs assigned to their sex.

"During May, for the first time in several years, the number of persons placed in private employment was greater than the number of new applicants registered whose last employment was in private industry," the report continued. "This is an encouraging sign that the group of unemployed persons seeking employment may be gradually reduced to smaller numbers."

Total placements in May were 38 per cent greater than for the same month in 1936 "with no undue concentration of placements in any industry or group of industries."

The commission said it has 114,673 persons available for jobs on June 1, 1937. Of these 35,084 were registered with its Milwaukee employment office. The file of June 1, 1936, carried 122,004 names.

Placements since January 1, the commission said, total 26,690.

Approve Recommendation For Withdrawal of Suit

Madison —(AP)—Approval of a recommendation for withdrawal of a suit by city firemen to recover $385,000 in salary waivers was voted late Wednesday by half of the members of the International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 215 (A. F. of L.). The other half of the union members will vote late today. Approximately 80 per cent of Milwaukee's 800 firemen are union members. The executive committee recommended dropping the suit which involves 650 firemen.

CONVENE AT CAMP Wisconsin service officers will participate Saturday and Sunday in a 2-day conference with Adjutant General Ralph M. Immel and Major J. F. Mullen at Camp Douglas. Edward E. Lutz, Outagamie service officer, will attend.

Two Youths Fined for Sending False Alarms

Marquette, Mich.—(AP)—Four false alarms sent Marquette fire trucks scotching about the city for 37 minutes.

Municipal Judge John Siegel decided Wednesday the "good time" Eugene Lavigne, 20, and Lee von Voorhees, 18, both of Marquette, had, was worth $25 apiece with the alternative of 60 days in the county jail. The youths admitted turning in the alarms.

Governor Pardons 2 Prison Inmates

Clemency Given to Eight Prisoners by State's Chief Executive

Madison —(AP)—Governor LaFollette granted clemency to eight prisoners Thursday issuing two conditional pardons and commuting sentences of the other six.

The governor pardoned Percy Adams, convicted in Marinette County Circuit court in 1934 on a morals charge, and James G. Ward, convicted in Milwaukee for larceny as bailor, for deportation to Canada.

The commutations: Harold Verley, Marinette county, breaking and entering, committed to 1 to 9 years in state prison.

George Tandy, Milwaukee county, convicted of three counts of burglary, state prison sentences, committed to run concurrently, 1 to 3 years.

Harry Pessin, Milwaukee county, assault and robbery, committed to 1 to 4 years in state prison.

Edwin Gutekunst, Waukesha county, morals charges, sentence committed to one term of 1 to 5 years in state prison.

Alvin French, Milwaukee county, assault and robbery, committed to 3 to 10 years in state reformatory.

Arthur Engelke, Milwaukee county, morals charge, committed to one to 23 years in Milwaukee House of Correction.

Name General Motors in Anti-Trust Complaint

Washington —(AP)—The federal Trade commission filed an anti-trust complaint Thursday against General Motors corporation in regard to the sale of auto parts.

The motor company was ordered to explain alleged "use of intimidation, oppression and coercion to compel dealers handling General Motors cars, against their will, to purchase parts, accessories and supplies for use on cars only from General Motors subsidiaries or affiliates."

The commission contended that such methods restrained competition and tended to create a monopoly. The firm has 20 days to file an answer.

The company was accused of sending parts to dealers who had not ordered them and of threatening the dealers with revocation of their franchises to sell General Motors cars if they did not accept and pay for the parts. The complaint also charged that the company required dealers to promise not to buy parts from competitors.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

up chairs, M. Farrington, Gay Mike and myself played. The Skipper refused to leave her window.

The horrible farce went on for hours—or seemed to. We overbilled wildly and underbid foolishly. It was difficult to remember trumps. Scoring was erratic. In spite of all pretense, every ear in the room was straining to catch sounds from the soughing of trees and rattling of blinds. Finally Michael threw down his cards.

"This is the worst idea you've had yet!" he snorted, moving toward the brandy bottle.

"Let's try billiards." My own voice was barely recognizable. "You move playing billiards."

The Skipper and M. Farrington remained in the living room, the latter patiently trying to read a book, the former still motionless at the window. We left the connecting door open, and Gay, Michael and I went into the room where the whole ghastly mess seemed to have started. Not 48 hours ago Jude Blinshop had stood right where I was standing, holding that very same cue, waiting for me to leave her alone with Mike. I dropped the cue as if it burned.

"Oh, hell!" I groaned desperately. Gay seated herself on the table, her foot swiveling rapidly.

"Mike," she said, "it isn't just curiosity, I—must know. You ought to trust me enough to tell me why you went outdoors last night."

Grisly Diversion! We were right back at the beginning. What possible difference could it make now? What possible use in dragging it up again? Diversion. Damned grisly diversion! I started for the door, but Mike blocked me off.

"Stay right here, Jim!" Then, very patiently, "I've told you a dozen times, Gay, that it had nothing to do with all this. I went out to look at the bridge."

"You're lying!" At the fury in her voice the sickening whirl in my head began to tighten. There was no stopping her. "What did you go outdoors for? You were out there!

I blinked at my watch. Ten minutes of seven. On the davenport M. Farrington was fast asleep. With all my heart I envied her.

"What's going on in there?" I tried to smile. "Oh—curiosity—nerves. No telling."

"Yes." She was switching off lights. "Listen, Jimmie, I'm going to take Martha upstairs with me. It's me for a cold shower. Tell Higgins to start some breakfast—and break up that Donnybrook Fair in there. It's daylight and we're civilized—supposedly. Have you our keys?"
